A San Bruno 'White Paper'

Corey, Hamilton Flunk Menkin; Their Charges Denied

A four-page "White Paper" on the selection of San Bruno City Manager Christopher Menkin has been issued by Councilmen George Corey and Maurice Hamilton.

They also offered a four-page scathing denunciation of what they consider Menkin's deficiencies as a city manager, titled "City Manager Performance Rating."

Both reports were made available to the press at a 7 p.m. meeting Monday, prior to the regular council session.

Corey and Hamilton basically repeated that the appointment was pre-arranged.

Another point Corey and Hamilton attempted to make was that the selection, made on July 27, allowed but 12 days, four of them weekends, to review applications.

They produced a letter from City Clerk Carl Hultberg that said he had prepared separate packets of applications received through July 7. The councilmen were to review the packet given them, initial it and pass it along. The letter was dated July 15.

This they consider an agreed upon procedure the three other councilmen failed to follow through on. They also pointed out that a "well qualified and capable acting city manager" in Leo Van Dusen, city engineer, was willing to serve until a new city manager could be found. One other matter they offer is that there was a deletion of the budgetary allowance for a city manager's salary for four months.

In the Menkin performance rating, the councilmen listed six specific areas of alleged deficiency. Under these general areas were listed from five to eleven reasons for the deficiency.

The councilmen said Menkin:

Is willing to be completely untrue to gain his end or get out of trouble.

—That he operates in secret.

—That he lacks ability to make or understand reports.

—That he knows nothing about a budget.

—That he makes immature and hasty decisions and breaks down when challenged.

The sixth listing gives "general incompetence as a city manager."

Menkin responded to the charges this morning. He said, "I've been doing the best job I can do. My conscience is clear. These challenges are nonsense. They are political. If they were sincere why weren't they brought out earlier? It's easy to make wild charges."

The city manager said some charges were valid, however out of context. He said some were lies.

"They (Corey and Hamilton) first said the procedure was the

DC Binding Arbitration Clause Ruled Invalid

The employment agreement signed last year by Jefferson Elementary School District teachers and administrators was upheld today, with one change, by Presiding Superior Court Judge Melvin E. Cohn.

The jurist invalidated the binding arbitration feature of the contract but ruled that "the remainder of the agreement is valid and will stand."

Judge Cohn said the clause calling for arbitration of grievances will remain, with the deletion of the binding feature.

The agreement, hammered out by the teachers' Negotiating Council last fall, is one of only three such contracts in effect in the state. The document, covering the wide range of employer-employe relations, was signed after a brief teachers' strike.

Judge Cohn's ruling today was in response to an attack on the agreement filed in January for the district by Deputy District Attorney James T. Foley. The district sought to have the entire contract invalidated on the basis of a Los Angeles court decision to the effect that a negotiating council does not have the legal authority to sign such a document.

If not the entire agreement, Foley asked that the binding arbitration clause be nullified. At issue was a dispute involving maternity leave for a teacher, Mrs. John Bent, who sought to have her case submitted for binding arbitration.

"The court is not impressed with plaintiff's contention that the coordinating council had no authority to contract," Judge Cohn said in a memorandum decision today. "It seems obvious that it was merely representing the certified employes, who did have the right to contract."

Judge Cohn ruled, however, that the council had no authority to enter into an agreement for compulsory arbitration.

Confusion

Over DC Holiday

George Washington's birthday has caused much confusion in Daly City.

While most of the country celebrated George's birthday last Monday (February 15) Daly City jumped out of step and ignored it.

No one was around to use city services although they remained open on February 15. And the Monday night study session went on usual.

George was born on February 22 and that was that as far as the Daly City Fathers were concerned.

Yesterday was February 22 and Daly City locked City Hall and went out to celebrate George Washington's birthday.

The usual Monday night group of interested citizens went to the civic center, found the doors secured and went home.

With Washington's birthday over the way was cleared for a regular public meeting of the City Council last night.

But rumors are already rife in the city that the Fourth of July may be celebrated on June 28, while Memorial Day may be changed to the middle of May instead of the 31st.

BART Report Summed For DC Chamber

The Bay Area Rapid Transit District is accelerating its community information programs on the Peninsula.

These meetings come in the wake of controversial reports outlining possible costs of San Mateo County joining the rapid transit district.

Thursday Larry Dahms, assistant general manager of BART and Project Manager of the San Francisco Airport Access Project, spoke to an overflow crowd attending the Chamber of Commerce meeting in Daly City.

Dahms explained that his recent report which indicated San Mateo County's price for coming into BART would be $52 million to "buy-in" plus an immediate 48 cents per $100 of assessed valuation on the tax rate was not a "true picture."

It was not meant to be a proposal, Dahms said.

Rather the figures cited were more of a starting point for negotiation between the county and BART.

There are several options open to San Mateo County for financing the transit system, according to Dahms.

"We must keep options open until we all understand what our benefits are—until all the facts are in," Dahms said.

Once the SFAAP study is completed answers to many questions will be available.

Meanwhile, Dahms cautioned the staff must stay pliable in its thinking and actions.

"The purpose of the report," Dahms said "was to get this

Court Rejects an Attempt to Block San Bruno Recall

Presiding Superior Judge Melvin E. Cohn has thrown out of court a suit seeking to block the scheduled March 2 recall election in San Bruno.

Judge Cohn's denial of the suit means that the election seeking removal of Mayor Neil J. Christal and Councilmen Richard Griffith and Theodore H. Long can proceed as scheduled.

In his decision, the judge overruled technical points raised in the suit as being "not crucial to the issues involved" and decided the matter on the merits.

Judge Cohn notes that "the court is aware that it has been well settled in this state that statutes enacted in aid of rights reserved to the people to determine whether or not their public servants should be removed from office should be liberally construed, and the courts are not authorized to interfere.

The decision notes that there was no allegation in the suit, filed on behalf of the three councilmen by attorney Rodney Robertson, that City Clerk Carl W. Hultberg had acted fraudulently, improperly or arbitrarily in certifying signatures on the recall petitions.

"The court must therefore assume that he has acted reasonably and capably (and) therefore holds that there are sufficient valid signatures on each petition in accordance with the clerk's certification."

It was alleged in the suit that anywhere from 1000 to 1200 signatures on the recall petition were invalid because they were dated on, not after, the seventh day following legal publication of the recall notice, that the number of words in the petition exceeded by three the maximum of 500 permitted by law, and that there were apparent forgeries of signatures.

Judge Cohn noted that the gist of the forgery contention was that the name, address and date of a signer were written by more than one person.

He states that the city clerk is limited in his comparison of signatures and may not go outside the registration affidavit to determine this. The judge notes that there was nothing in the affidavit submitted by a handwriting expert retained by the plaintiffs to indicate that he ever saw the registration cards.

San Bruno councilmen Monday night made a fund transfer of $7,000 to pay for the March 2 recall election. Councilman Dick Griffith voted against the move.

S. Bruno Debate Site Is Changed

Site of the scheduled Thursday evening debate between San Bruno Councilman Ted Long and candidate Orville Wycoff has been moved to the Decima Allen School, 875 W. Angus.

Mrs. Pete Aria, chairman of the San Bruno Residents for Fair Debate Committee, said the time remains the same, 7:30 p.m.

The debate, which will concern itself with the issue of the appointment of City Manager Christopher Menkin, was originally scheduled for the Skyline College Campus Theater.

Mr. Aria said confusion in arrangements necessitated the site change.

For Millbrae Spur

Homes, Parks Plan

Plans for parks, homesites, roads, and hiking trails through the Millbrae Spur were publicly revealed Monday at a meeting of the city's Planning Commission, and City Council.

Chairman Harold Purpus described the results of months of study by his Spur Committee, named last August by the City Council, when the city received the one-time highway right of way, from the State Division of Highways.

Purpus said development of the swath of hillside land that sweeps through Millbrae from San Bruno to Millbrae Avenue and El Camino Real, could produce an area unique on the Peninsula, and in the United States

He said certain vistas were priceless, and others should be kept as rustic park sites, or as hiking and picnicking areas, for future generations.

Of the total 52 acres, he said, only about five acres should be sold for homesites, according to his committee's opinion.

The only point of controversy appears to be disposition of the north end of the property, near Lomita Avenue.

Resident Robert Richards, 840 Lomita, said he hoped the city did not plan to develop a roadway through the property north of Lomita Avenue, and ruin the peaceful area.

Purpus said his committee had heard other opinions, also. Some neighbors would like to see a roadway along which they could reach Interstate 280 on the Skyline, without looping through San Bruno.

Planning Commission Chairman Eugene Morasoli accepted the report, and said the planners would be holding public hearings on all its recommendations, before urging the City Council to take action.

Purpus, a member of the Council, said that was a proper approach.

He added that the sale of some 30 lots, on the five acres mentioned, could finance improvement of the entire strip of land, to the degree his committee suggested.

"This would just about pay for the whole project," he said, "leaving the city with a unique recreational area, plus a needed roadway across the city."

Committee member Joseph Galante, a member of the Planning Commission, noted that the roadway is a necessary feature because the city does not hold title to some of the property.

CD Preparedness

'Improved' Emergency Training in San Bruno

San Bruno completed its second Emergency Operations Simulation Training (EOST) exercise in civil defense preparedness on Friday.

Consensus at the afternoon critique was that many things were improved from the initial performance. Also, many problems remain to be solved.

The simulated disaster Friday morning was a severe earth tremor that supposedly effected major areas in the entire county. The epicenter was in the vicinity of Crystal Springs reservoir. It measured 5.5 on the Richter scale.

As a result, an overpass collapsed. Houses were shaken from their foundations. Power poles went down. Explosions occurred, apartments collapsed, and the county jail fell apart.

The recent Los Angeles disaster offered vivid mental pictures of what could also happen in San Bruno, as participants in the exercise plotted solutions, sent aid and made rescues.

The exercise actually began Tuesday, counting preparations.

Tuesday was for preparation of message in-puts. These messages would be acted on later in the week. Wednesday included a discussion of procedures and the critique process. Thursday called for a briefing on the emergency operation center concept.

The exercise is directed by the University of California Institute for Civil Defense and Disaster Adminstration. San Bruno is a participant in a five-year program.

San Bruno's emergency operations center is located in the basement of city hall. From this point, during any natural or man-made disasters, all information and procedures will originate.

One point brought out at the Friday afternoon critique was that this emergency operations center is not adequately supplied.

The ideal situation, it was agreed, should be to have a duplicate communications setup, such as exist in the fire and police departments. Building Inspector Melvin Bredlow said that with the system being used, "valuable men and equipment are being sent to handle relatively unimportant problems."

All agreed there was a need for involvement by more people, possibly all city employes.

Fire Chief Herb Freitas said that his men operate "exactly

Association Fights Land Annexation

Members of the Broadmoor Property Owners Association Wednesday continued what so far has been a losing fight to stop annexation by Daly City of eight acres adjoining the Civic Center.

Joe Vilas, association president, told the Local Agency Formation Commission in Redwood City that he had been advised by Assemblyman John Knox that LAFCO approval of the annex on January 20 could be invalid if property owners were not notified in advance.

Deputy District Attorney L. M. Summey said, however, that there is no requirement for LAFCO to mail notices to residents.

The commission then followed up on last month's action by approving the detachment of the property from the Broadmoor Police Protection District and the Colma Fire Protection District, to become effective if and when the annexation goes through. The purpose of the detachments is to prevent duplication of services and avoid double taxation.

Vilas said there is a chance that the owners of land representing more than half of the assessed valuation in the area to be annexed will protest when the matter comes before the city council on March 22.

The city wants control over development of the land because of its proximity to the Civic Center. The association, which still hopes to incorporate Broadmoor, has been fighting all attempts by Daly City to take what it considers its territory.

BART Cost Report 'Not True Picture'

(information) out before you . . . to start discussions."

Wednesday night the first meeting of the Citizens Committee of the SFAAP was held in San Bruno.

BART's Project Coordinator on the study, Keith Bernard, outlined the progress of the partially federal funded $557,000 study.

"The study is getting well under way in developing specific alignment alternatives along the route," Bernard said.

Because of this the SFAAP's Board of Control feels interested citizens should have a voice in the project, Bernard said.

This sounding board from North County communities could be the largest single purpose citizens committee BART has ever dealt with.

Five members each are being appointed by the San Mateo County and San Francisco City and County Board of Supervisors.

Up to 24 members are being appointed by the eight cities of the North County and up to 12 members will be representing interested county-wide organizations as appointed by the San Mateo County supervisors.

Add to this figure the many "interested citizens" who are being encouraged to speak up at these public meetings and the total could be the largest public group to ever participate in the planning of a rapid transit system, BART officials explain.

Questions raised at both meetings concerned financing, necessity of routing through residential areas, location of stations and maintenance facilities and baggage handling at the airport.

A special report on baggage handling is expected to be released this week by the SFAAP —FLP

Stairway Costs Climb in Daly City

Construction of that stairway residents of the Southern Hills area have been asking Daly City to build will soon get under way.

And while the stairs themselves may not climb "halfway to the stars" like the cable cars of San Francisco, the costs have climbed dramatically in recent months.

When it was first proposed several months ago, engineering estimates of the costs were $4,500. The initial low bid was $8,200.

After rejecting this bid and going back to public bid once again, the council was more or less satisfied to learn the latest low bid is $6,890 — only $2,390 more than the city engineer estimated.

The stairway is needed to cut down on the time and distance of residents of the hill going back and forth to school, shopping and work.

Sailboat Ashore; Two Bodies Found

Local searchers and Coast Guardsmen were investigating the mysterious grounding of a 30-foot sailboat at Miramontes Point in south Half Moon Bay Tuesday.

No one was found aboard the white schooner, named the Kama. Half Moon Bay Police Chief Fred Ceranski began the job of attempting to find a registry, noting that nothing had been found aboard indicating the craft's present ownership.

Two bodies were located in the water nearby by a Coast Guard search helicopter Tuesday afternoon and coroner's officials were dispatched to the scene.

Lifejackets and debris had been sighted in the water about two miles north, off Naples Beach, and a Coast Guard patrol boat was en route, conducting a search along the way for any other evidence, a spokesman said.

A Coast Guard helicopter was called in shortly after Pillar Point Harbormaster Paul Whitaker reported the Sailboat aground at 7:34 a.m.

The sailboat turned onto its side and had lost its masts.

Anita Olsen, a junior a Serramonte High, beat three other contestants at the Daly City Host Lions contest which was held at the Golden Coach Restaurant. The theme of this year's contest was "should youth get involved."

San Bruno Petitions: Dead Issue?

Will the San Bruno recall petition matter raise up and taunt that city after the March 2 recall election?

City Attorney Joe Galligan last night said the case will never be tried. Councilman Ted Long said it is far from a dead issue.

The discussion began when resident Ralph Corral said he was concerned that his voting rights were being infringed upon. He cited statements to the effect that petition signers could face criminal charges if the petitions were fraudulent.

Councilman George Corey said Corral had nothing to fear because Judge Mel Cohn had ruled the matter was a dead issue.

"I think Corey has again inaccurately stated the facts," said Long. "The judge did not throw the lawsuit (that sought an injunction in the election) out. Those petitions will go to court."

Corey asked Galligan to make a ruling. Galligan said it will never be tried because there was no "cause of action" stated.

Post Deadline

News items intended for publication in the North County Post should be taken or mailed to 30 Park Plaza Drive, Daly City (94015), by 5 p.m. each Thursday.

Bruno Candidate Criticizes Ted Long

San Bruno council candidate Tony Governale charges Councilman Ted Long with turning a deaf ear to his constituents, when he appointed City Manager Christopher Menkin.

Governale, a former park and recreation commissioner, is vying for Long's seat in the March 2 recall election.

"Along with violating his public trust, he also violated his campaign platform of commitment to community participation in solving San Bruno's problems," said Governale.

"In railroading Menkin's appointment, Long derailed selection procedures to which he had previously agreed. He clearly showed a lack of integrity by expediently violating his own pledge."

Governale charges that when residents called for reconsideration, Long turned a deaf ear.

"Long is consistent in condemning, intimidating, harassing and blaming everyone else, and even democracy itself, for exposing his own errors and misrepresentations," said Governale.

issue. Now I'm the issue," said Menkin.

Councilman Griffith called the entire matter a last minute smear attempt. He also came to the meeting with a press release in hand.

It was titled, "Let Menkin Be the Issue, Final Statement on Recall."

In it Griffith said he was content to let the outcome of the election rest upon whether Menkin should remain as city manager.

His release was aimed at the 12 candidates vying for a seat. He charged that all 12 have refused to give any specifics upon what they would do as councilmen.

"All they say is fire the city manager," said Griffith.. "Give this brilliant young man a chance."

Griffith said Menkin has "performed admirably" in the short time he has been in office, "under the most trying circumstances of constant sniping by the minority councilmen and their politically motivated adherents."

Mayor Christal said the "White Paper" was "riddled with half truths. It's loaded. There was no pre-arrangement.

Councilman Ted Long shook his head continually, saying, "It's just not true."

He said that he became frustrated in efforts to discuss the appointment. He said Corey and Hamilton were not prepared, and that there were no set procedures.

"I seriously question their integrity in opening to public discussion a personnel session. They've constantly voted against taking minutes of such sessions. It is a single-handed report," said Long.

"I'll go back into a personnel session and defend that appointment. Because I think it's a good appointment." —B.P.

Bruno Shows Small Boost in Valuation

A report of per capita assessed valuation issued by San Bruno City Manager Christopher Menkin shows that city has the smallest annual increase, only $38.

The comparative analysis of eleven cities in the county was prepared by San Bruno Finance Officer Bob Bodeman.

According to the report, the cities of San Bruno, Pacifica and Daly City failed to realize any substantial increases in assessed valuation the past year.

Those cities with the best per capita assessed valuation realized substantial increases, according to the report. The cities are South San Francisco, Menlo Park, Burlingame and San Mateo.

Menkin said the development of Tanforan Park in San Bruno is currently estimated at $10 million, assessable for the 1971-72 tax rolls.

At existing tax rates, Menkin said the 1971-72 assessed values should produce $35,000 in general, retirement and park and recreation fund property tax revenues.

the same way" in their day-to-day responses. "We operate immediately," said the chief. He added that had his department followed up on all the calls "we would have been out of resources and manpower within five minutes."

Other findings were that there was a lack of internal communications, with confused messages. There also is a need for involvement by residents, such as those who could offer use of heavy equipment.

Don Allen, San Bruno's civil defense coordinator, said he was satisfied with the exercise. He said the ultimate goal is to standardize as much as possible the disaster plans and techniques for cities. He said this is gradually being accomplished.

Youth Dies in Skyline Collision

One youth was killed and another critically injured in a head-on crash on Skyline Boulevard February 16.

Doctors at Mary's Help Hospital, worked for several hours to save the life of William David McCoy, 17, of 660 MacArthur Drive, Broadmoor.

He died at 5:28 a.m.

Driver of a pickup truck involved in the crash, Nello J. Checchi, of 2340 Oakmont Drive, San Bruno, was in guarded condition at Mary's Help Hospital with multiple injuries.

Police said both vehicles were demolished in the accident near Hickey Boulevard.

A third driver, Eli Cruz, 22, of San Rafael, escaped serious injury. However his car was extensively damaged.

Initial reports disclosed that young McCoy, son of William L. McCoy, was northbound on Skyline while both Cruz and Checchi were southbound.

Auto Kills Colma Boy

Lisandro Lopez, six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Juan Lopez of 320 Collins Avenue, Colma, was killed Wednesday when struck by a car in front of the Lopez home.

Witnesses told Highway Patrolman Ken Kettel that the boy ran into the street from the driveway and was screened from the driver's view by a panel truck parked at the curb.

The driver, John Keith Johnson, 20-year-old bank employe of 598 Price Street, Daly City, said he swerved and put on the brakes but could not avoid striking the boy.

Kettel said the victim was thrown 100 feet. He was dead on arrival at Mary's Help Hospital.

14 Arrested in Pot Bust

San Bruno police Friday arrested 14 teen-agers at a pot party in a Darby Place apartment and confiscated more than a pound of marijuana.

Officers Jack Gibson and Robert Porrisi smelled the burning marijuana when they answered a disturbing the peace call at 141 Darby Place about 10 p.m.

Thirteen of the youths—ages 15 through 18 years old — were booked on charges of being in a place where marijuana is being used.

Is there such a thing as "the average student" at the three colleges in the San Mateo Junior College District system?

What is he like? What are his goals? What is his background? Can such things be accurately analyzed when you have a shifting, everchanging student population of more than 25,000 individuals?

Bill Wenrich, an assistant to College of San Mateo President Dr. Robert Ewigleben, has tried to come up with some answers.

For the last two years, Wenrich has asked new incoming students to answer a lengthy questionnaire as part of their entrance procedure.

Of 2,800 students entering the College of San Mateo for the first time in September of 1970, about 2,500 took part in the survey. These are some of the results:

Sixty per cent were male, 40 per cent were female.

—Thirteen per cent were minority group students.

—Fifty-five per cent said they were employed at the time they took part in the survey. And about 80 per cent of those said they intended to stay employed during the school year.

—Twenty per cent said they would probably need some financial aid during their stay at CSM.

—About half said they had mothers who worked.

—Sixty-two percent said they lived between one and ten miles from the campus. The rest said they lived more than ten miles away.

—Seventy-one per cent said they owned their own cars. A total of 84 per cent said they came to CSM via private automobile.

—Almost 54 per cent reported they were coming to CSM in order to prepare for transfer to another institution with or without the JC's AA degree (which signifies that a student has completed four semesters of college course work).

—Less than half said their fathers were employed in either managerial or professional job categories.

—Most said they did not know what they planned to major in at the school.

He found that almost 70 per cent wanted to go on with their education. About 30 per cent said they intended to stop now and go to work, go into the military, get married or do something else.

Ninety-seven per cent said they wanted to continue their education some time in the future.

Wenrich this week also cleared up some other points about students at the three JC campuses.

He said that about 95 per cent of the students live here in San Mateo County.

About 3 per cent are foreign students and out-of-state students. The rest come from other JC districts or from areas which are not part of a district.

As of last semester, there were roughly 350 foreign and out-of-state students on the three campuses.

Up until this year, the state had provided its usual share of funds to help educate these students. The district has also been charging out-of-state students $14 per unit as well, the maximum allowed by the state.

This year, however, the state has cut off assistance to foreign students in the JC programs. Since the local district had about 270 foreign students already accepted and signed into the schools, it was decided to allow them to come here free, for this year only.

Since the district has estimated that it costs over $1,000 per year to educate a full-time student here this fiscal year (it was $902 a year ago), it can be seen that a total of about $270,000 may be involved if all those foreign students are full-time—and most are.

In addition, foreign students here have not had to pay tuition as have the out-of-state students.

This situation will change drastically next year, Wenrich said. All students in those two categories will be charged $30 per unit. The state has changed its code to allow the higher charge, he said.

About students who live outside the district but who wish to attend one of the district's three campuses, Wenrich said they must first obtain a release from their own districts. Then, the two districts work out the financial arrangement, making sure that the taxpayers here foot none of the cost for these students.

That process works the other way too, he noted. County students who wish to attend a JC outside this county must go through the same procedure.

It must be emphasized, Wenrich said, that anyone over the age of 21 can attend a junior college in this state if he lives in the district.

S.S.F. Group Moves to Judge Judges

A new organization is being formed for the purpose of evaluating judges, as a guide to South San Francisco voters.

Harmon Hallett, chairman of the group, said that "Confidence in our judicial branches of local and Nation Governments is at one of its lowest points in history. There is a widespread feeling among our people, that our courts are no longer in tune with the wishes of the people. This distrust of our courts and judges is evidenced by the growing number of 'no' votes being cast in elections of judges, where there are no opponents. The Federal Supreme Court is held in complete contempt by many people and state supreme courts as well as lower courts have also suffered loss of respect because of unpopular decisions.

"This problem," said Hallet, "seems to stem from too many judges who make decisions based not on the original intent of the various constitutions and laws but rather on what they would like them to mean. In short, we have changed from a rule of law to a rule of men. In our system of self government members of all branches of government must constantly be evaluated for competence and it would be dangerous to make an exception in the case of judges. judges."

"Based on the philosophy of 'Rule of Law' we will attempt to evaluate those judges we elect as well as others whose decisions effect this area. We hope to be able to count on the help of law enforcement officers, whose experience in the courts as well as their attitude towards law enforcement, make them especially valuable in helping us assess the competence of the various judges," he continued.

"We hope that by communicating our findings to the electorate, we may be able to undo some of the damage done by past neglect," he said.

said an East Bay track, about 85 miles away, apparently is the closest legal area.

He said many of the Pacifica area's mini-bikes are not registered and are operated by youngsters under 16.

A licensing program should go with any program, Saltenberger explained, mostly from a property-security basis, just as bicycles. Many of the vehicles, he said, do not have standard equipment or serial numbers.

He said a number of questions remain unanswered. Among them:

"Who will operate such a program? The city or private interests?"

"Where can a suitable track be located?"

Saltenberger noted, "People seem to be really interested."

He said he thought such a program, "if properly supervised, has merit."

Employment Agency Denied Use Permit

By WILL THOMAS

The San Bruno Planning Commission last week denied a use permit which would have allowed an employment agency to operate in the city's central business district on San Mateo Avenue.

Daphne Jensen, seeking to open the Sunset Employment Agency at 412 San Mateo Avenue, ran afoul of San Bruno's recently enacted Central Business District (CBD) zoning legislation.

The CBD law prohibits professional, office and service businesses at ground-floor levels on San Mateo Avenue, primarily in the 400, 500, and 600 blocks.

Atty. David Morgan of South San Francisco, representing Mrs. Jensen, said the issue was not meant to "test" the constitutionality of San Bruno's CBD ordinance.

Morgan argued that location of an employment agency on San Mateo Avenue was not "an inconsistent use" in the district.

He cited a section of the municipal code that he said allows planners to analyze an application to determine if the use is consistent.

Morgan described the employment agency as a retail firm, not an administrative office or service venture. He said there has been a recent trend by such firms to locate as retail-type stores, away from an office building atmosphere.

He pesented planners with petitions which he said contained names of 62 merchants supporting Mrs. Jensen's request.

Morgan said Mrs. Jensen had gone to much expense in redecorating the building after signing a lease with United Artists, through Arndt Realty January 4.

The attorney claimed that his client had not been informed of the CBD law by the realty firm. The first indication of trouble came on January 20, Morgan said, when Mrs. Jensen went to City Hall to obtain a business license.

Joshua Maule III, president of the Chamber of Commerce's Downtown Merchants' Division, reiterated his unit's continued support of the ordinance.

The merchants on San Mateo Avenue say the ordinance should be given two years in which to prove its value.

He explained the law was enacted in the belief that service businesses lead to a reduction in foot traffic.

The operator of an employment agency located in a ground-level space on San Mateo Avenue, near the proposed Sunset firm, did not agree with Atty. Morgan that employment agencys are retail firms.

Planning Consultant Larry Wise said that he could not recommend approval of the use permit. He said he thought Mrs. Jensen had followed the wrong procedure.

Wise said the "proper procedure" was for the employment firm to apply for a rezoning of the property from CBD to either C-1 or C-2.

He added that the theatre next door and a service station across the street had been excluded from CBD initially.

Wise also said it would be "difficult," for him to find the employment agency as "similar" to uses spelled out in the ordinance under sections one through seven.

Mary's Help Tells of Free Clinic Use

An official statement from Mary's Help Hospital in Daly City replying to a recent vigil has been issued. The vigil was held three Sundays ago by a group of residents claiming they could not get free clinic help at the hospital.

The reply is as follows:

"In response to numerous inquiries after the recent prayer vigil, the hospital desires to set forth the following outline of reduced fee and free services rendered.

"Mary's Help Hospital is a non-profit hospital operated by the Daughters of Charity of St. Vincent de Paul. In response to the need for an inpatient facility in Northern San Mateo County, the hospital was relocated from San Francisco to Daly City in 1965.

"Continuing in the 58-year tradition of Mary's Help Hospital, over 1,000 people are currently enrolled in six outpatient clinics. These six clinics (Pediatrics, Surgery, Medicine, Orthopedics, Obstetrics, and a well-baby clinic for Catholic Social Services) average 240 visits per month. Treatment is either on a reduced-fee basis or free depending upon the patient's ability to pay as evaluated by the hospital's Social Service Department.

"These clinics, being without UBAC, Church, or Federal support, are funded by the hospital. The hospital recognizes that at the present time it does not have clinics in all specialties, and clinic patients in need of certain services are referred to available facilities.

"Inpatient free and reduced-fee care has been given to more than 200 patients during the past calendar year. In most instances these services were provided with only token reimbursement to the hospital and the physicians. Where the needed medical care represented a major financial hardship to the family, free care was rendered.

"In addition, there are over 2,000 patients seen each month in the hospital's Emergency Room. Physicians are present 24 hours each day to examine all patients irrespective of insurance coverage, lack of cash or socio-economic status. Interpreters are available for those with language difficulties.

"The position of hospital Community Liaison was established 1½ years ago to identify the health care needs of the poor and to make recommendations on how these needs could be met. As a result of this pilot program two Sisters now spend full time in the community assisting with transportation, clothing, medical care, and family problems.

"Through master planning the orderly development of health services is being undertaken. Community and neighborhood groups are now being contacted to identify their health care preferences. Other liaisons with the community include providing summer jobs for disadvantaged youths; a Medical Explorers Post enabling area youths to become familiar with the hospital environment through first-hand experience; educational affiliations with five colleges and universities for intern and residency training, nursing, inhalation therapy, medical records, x-ray technology and similar allied health programs.

"Federal and State funds from the Hill-Burton program totaling $4.3 million were provided for the construction of the $9 plus million hospital structure. The remaining funds were provided through loans and public fund raising. As a part of the Hill-Burton program, the hospital agreed that it would not discriminate in its admission practices and also that it would provide a reasonable volume of free and reduced-fee services."

Suspects in Rape Hunted by Daly City

An 18-year-old Daly City high school student was kidnapped off a city street by three youths about 11 p.m. Friday and driven to a deserted area where she was raped.

The victim was released by her captors some two hours later and managed to make her way to a home on Westline Drive where police were summoned.

According to the girl's version of the incident, she was walking home along South Mayfair Avenue near the Skyline Plaza Shopping Center after a visit to a friend's home when a small foreign car pulled up and two youths jumped out.

After forcing the girl into the car they drove to an abandoned section of the Old Coast Highway in the vicinity of Mussel Rock where she was allegedly raped.

The suspects were described as between 18-20 years old and driving a light-colored Volkswagon.

Suspect One is described as a white male, 5-foot-5 in height, fat, with brown wavy hair and wearing blue jeans, light-colored striped shirt and blue coat. His name is possibly "Steve" and he has a distinct accent, police said.

Suspect Two is white, male, six feet in height with a slender build, light brown hair parted in the middle. He was wearing blue jeans, white "T" shirt and a blue coat, police said.

There was no description on Suspect Three.

REUNION PLANNED

A reunion for the Westmoor Class of 1960 is being planned for May 8, at the Southern Restaurant in South San Francisco. Graduates who have not been contacted may obtain information from Pam Hoyt (755-4738) or Dorrie Simpson (992-1424).

Special Classes for Gifted in Millbrae

Gifted children in two Millbrae schools are participating in special sessions, accelerated to match their mentalities.

Named the Mentally Gifted Minor program, it is attended by about 50 of the over 3200 students in the district's nine scoools.

Funds for the special program are reimbursed to the district by the State Dept. of Education, following application by Spring Valley and Millbrae schools, according to Superintendent Edward J. Muehlhausen.

Children from eight to 12 are tested by psychologists, using the Stanford Binet and other tests to determine the child's intelligence quotient. Upon permission of parents, principal and teacher, part of the child's school day is spent in accelerated learning.

Workshops include special activities in mathematics, logic, photography, as well as general science and aerodynamics.

Children from the two schools are bused to join each other for alloted study periods and for occasonal field trips.

The math workshops include computer math, probability and statistics, slide rule, history of numbers and systems of numberation, geometric configuration, math puzzles and games, construction of geometric models and programming of IBM cards, knowledge of the slide rule. Competition is not stressed but rather the opportunity to explore areas of special interest to the students which would not otherwise be covered, due to lack of time.

They also study civil defense alerts and fire drill procedures, as well as problems in spaceflights.

An annual review of the program assesses pupil selection, articulation with regular school programs, and a general appraisal of the progress achieved.

Miss Diane Frassetti of Millbrae and Leo Tarantino of Spring Valley, both fifth grade teachers, will lead the workshops.

Appearances Ruled Out

San Bruno Councilman Dick Griffith said he will not be available for any of the scheduled candidates nights.

Griffith said the reason he's declining all invitations is because he interprets the state elections code as "prohibiting me from being a candidate."

He said the provisions in the code are "unfair and perhaps unconstitutional, giving challengers a five-to-one handicap over an incumbent."

Under the process of a recall election, there is actually two votes cast. One is a simple yes or no on whether an official should be recalled. The second is to cast a vote for any of the candidates listed (excluding the man facing recall).

$2,956,204 Awarded

A grant of $2,956,204 in federal money will be made available March 15 to San Francisco International Airport, to help rebuild roadways to the passenger terminal area.

Congressman William S. Mailliard, San Francisco, announced the grant, from Department of Transportation.

The money will be used as part of the funds for the $9,222,000 roadway reconstruction project ow under way, said airport manager James K. Carr.

He credited rapid action on the part of the Airports Commission staff with obtaining the funds which became available through the Airports and Airways Act enacted last year.

DEATHS

Bruno's First Mayor Dies

The first mayor of San Bruno, Louis H. Traeger, 91, of 625 Easton Avenue, died Thursday in Millbrae Convalescent Hospital.

A native of California, he had lived in this county since 1906, and was one of the most popular men in the North County.

He was a member of the Woodmen of the World, Local 848, Carpenters' Union, San Bruno, and the Peninsula Police Officers' Association.

Surviving are two sons, Albert L. of Santa Rosa, and Fred W. Traeger of San Bruno, and a daughter, Doris P. Traeger of San Bruno.

Funeral services were at 11 a.m. Monday at San Bruno Funeral Home, 200 West San Bruno Avenue, San Bruno, with interment at Cypress Lawn Memorial Park, Colma.

ELMER C. WISE

Elmer C. Wise, 82, of 723 West Orange, South San Francisco, died Thursday in Burlingame. He was a native of Missouri and California resident for 25 years.

Funeral services were conducted at 2 p.m. Monday, from the Garden Chapel.

Survivors include his wife, Josephine; sons, Carl of Sunnyvale, and Merle of San Bruno.

KENNETH H. DAVIS

Kenneth H. Davis, 49, of 1024 Crestwood, South San Francisco, died Thursday in Burlingame. A photo engraver, he was a native of Iowa and California resident for 17 years.

Funeral services will be held at 11 a.m., Monday, from the Garden Chapel. Interment will be in Olivet Memorial Park.

Survivors include his wife, Agnes, and daughter, Sue Poncia, of South San Francisco.

ANDREW C. SHANNON

Andrew C. Shannon, 77, of 416 Beech Avenue, San Bruno, died Feb. 15 in San Bruno. He was a native of Georgia and lived in California for 51 years.

Funeral services were held today from the San Bruno Funeral Home, followed by a mass at St. Roberts Church.

He was a retired superintendent of streets in San Bruno and a member of VFW Post 2517.

Survivors include his wife, Lizzie, sons, Robert of Red Bluff, Andrew Jr., and George, both of San Bruno, daughters, Rosetta Glaser of San Bruno and May Atkinson of San Mateo.

LOUISE KOLAR

Louise Kolar, 63, of 102 Del Monte Avenue, South San Francisco, died Feb. 15 in Burlingame. She was a native of California.

Funeral services were from the Nauman and Lincoln Mortuary, South San Francisco. Interment was at Olivet Memorial Park.

Survivors include sons, John and Ed from South San Francisco, Joseph from Santa Rosa, and daughters, Mrs. Majorie O'Rourke and Mrs. Gaill Newton of South San Francisco.

JOHN GARCIA

John Garcia, 85, of 15 Maple Avenue, South San Francisco, died Friday in South San Francisco. A retired steel worker, and native of Mexico, he was a California resident for 53 years.

Funeral services were held on Monday from the Nauman and Lincoln Mortuary, South San Francisco. Interment was a Holy Cross Cemetery.

Survivors include step-daughters Matilda Romo of South San Francisco, and Agnes Francis of San Francisco.

Many Hands Man County 'Lifeline'

San Mateo County's only artificial kidney equipment has been in operation just over two years, and already 17 victims of acute kidney failure have used it as a lifeline to survival.

Dr. Edward Persike, who is chairman of the Renal Dialysis Committee of Mills Memorial Hospital, terms provision of its Artificial Kidney Unit for local residents "a true people-to-people lifeline."

A decade ago, before development of the intricate hemodialysis (blood cleansing) devises, kidney failure victims were doomed. And for serveral years after medical scientists and technologists had created machinery that would perform the vital tasks of the human kidney, treatment facilities were distant and scarce.

Now The Times of San Mateo has joined the community effort that makes it possible for local residents to use the "lifeline" of Mills Hospital.

Harold A. Schlotthauer, general manager of The Times, announced the newspaper will conduct a promotion campaign on behalf of the fund which provides for the maintenance of Mills Hospitals's Artifical Kidney Unit and for its expansion to serve those in desperate need of treatment.

The Times has assigned a special telephone crew of "Helping Hands" to tell San Mateo County residents how they can join the people-to-people movement to save lives. Times Carrier Boys will carry the message on their routes, too.

Here's how the project will work: The Times, through its community service department, will donate to Mills Hospital's Artifical Kidney Unit one-half of the cost of each new two-month subscription received during it Kidney Fund campaign. That means the subscriber will be paying the full price of $5 for two months, but $2.50 will be donated directly to the countywide hemodialysis unit at Mills Hospital.

In undertaking the campaign, The Times — and its new readers — will become part of the people-to-people lifeline that was started only three years ago by Mary (Mrs. Robert) Bremner in memory of her late husband. It has been Mary Bremner's goal to assure local victims of kidney failure that close-to-home treatment facilities willl be avilable to everyone who needs them. The young widow, whose husband died in 1968 after many months of a virtual commute schedule to Southern California for kidney dialysis, made the initial contribution to the Robert C. Bremner Artificial Kidney Fund at Mills Hospital and since has spearheaded a low-pressure, high-effectiveness campaign on its behalf.

A citizens' committee, business firms, service clubs, unions and virtually the entire Mills Hospital staff — doctors, administrators, nurses, technicians aides — are all part of the people-to-people effort. Their contributions of time and money have made it possible for the Artifical Kidney Unit to expand with increasing need.

The need, Dr. Persike predicts, will be ever-increasing.

As word of the AKU facilities spreads, more medical referrals are received. The dialysis equipment serves to "buy time" while the kidney failure patient awaits transplantation of a human kidney to free him from dependence on the machine. But transplants are sometimes rejected, and the machine can be called into service again and again to keep the patient going until another kidney is available.

And the lifeline is very, very costly.

Each treatment lasts six to ten hours and costs a staggering $220. That adds up to $660 a week for the average hospital-based user. The patient who prefers (and is capable of) taking home treatment will spend some $5,200 during the in-hospital training period. The wife or husband must complete the course too, since it takes a highly skilled partner to assist with the complicated and delicate operations.

The home patient's individual dialysis machine has a price tag of $5,000 for purchase or lease. Its upkeep for materials and medications runs a tidy $3,000 to $5,000 per year.

Very few families can manage that kind of financial burden.

"Fortunately, to date, we've not had to turn away anyone because of money."

Despite a cost that's astronomical to the average breadwinner or housewife, Dr. Persike affirms that financial ability does NOT enter into the medical evaluation of who is eligible for the precious services of the AKU. Somehow, the funds have always turned up from private or public sources.

Then how is the choice made?

The Renal Dialysis Committee headed by Dr. Persike makes a thorough study of each applicant and referral patient. Of prime consideration are the patient's medical suitability for dialysis and his capacity for rehabilitaion and return to a resonable environment. A team of psychiatrists and public health nurses helps with evaluation of mental attitudes, since it requires stamina of the mind as well as of the body to undertake the extended, expensive and uncertain course of treatment. Should the patient wish to progress to home care rather than continue to use in-hospital treatment, the mental stamina and physical capability of the spouse, who must be responsible for much of the work, is a factor.

Home care, rather than hospital treatment, is preferable when family circumstances make it possible, Dr. Persike and his committee agree.

Home treatment frees the busy hospital equipment for other patients who are single or unable to manage their own dialysis treatments. It can also free the patient himself to schedule the treatment — an average of 30 hours a week — at times that allow him to pursue normal business or home duties.

Some patients, who started with the machine when it was introduced ten years ago, are surviving and even carrying on relatively normal lives with entire life-dependence on artificial dialysis. These are cases in which transplants have not been attempted.

How many more could be saved and restored to useful, productive lives if the referral system were perfect and if there were an artificial kidney for everyone who needed it is a question without an answer so far.

The Times and its new Kidney Fund subscribers may help supply the answer.

ONE OF THE fortunate 17 who so far have received artificial dialysis at Mills Hospital's Artificial Kidney Unit, Murray Frix "bought time" through the lifesaving equipment before receiving a human kidney transplant. He has been restored to almost full activity ("golf comes a little later") as traveling consultant for Mergenthaler Linofilm, a supplier of newspaper production materials.

DR. EDWARD PERSIKE, Chairman of the Renal Dialysis Committee at Mills Memorial Hospital, is at the controls of the Artificial Kidney Unit that extends its lifeline to San Mateo County kidney failure victims.

Peninsula Halfway House Elects

Jack Stout of Palo Alto was elected president of Peninsula Halfway House at the annual membership meeting last week. Mrs. Otto Copenhagen, Bill Penburg and Clarence Cretan of San Mateo were selected to serve as vice presidents.

Mrs. E. L. Morris and Dr. T. F. Weinert continue as secretary and treasurer respectively. Elected to the executive committee were Mrs. Robert Boynton, William Goss and Mrs. Betty Simmons.

Mr. and Mrs. William Thomson, Mrs. R. P. Maynard, Mr. and Mrs. Al Ludwig, Lewis Michelony, Al Potter, Ralph Peterson and Mrs. Norton Benner will serve as directors at large.

Jim Wyman, manager of Peninsula Halfway House, a home for parolees, expressed the need of more help from the community. Jobs are needed for the men as well as canned goods, bedding and linens. A continuing need is money for a new house. Donations can be made to P.O. Box 533 or by call the House.

Peninsula Halfway House has been serving released prisoners since 1962 and is community sponsored. It is a non-profit corporation. At the present time, 10 men are in residence. A major portion of the budget comes from organizations and individuals in the community.

JHS Awards Program Participants

Fifteen seniors at Jefferson High School have been selected 1971 Bank of America Achievement Awards program, Principal Robert C. Bush announced.

The trophy winners and the chosen are: Douglas Harrison, science and mathematics; Sandra Bizjak, liberal arts; Brenda Bradshaw, fine arts; Marita Bottarini, vocational arts.

Eleven other students were cited for their superior performance in specific fields of study and will receive certificates of merit. They are: Aileen Flores, mathematics; Harry Shin, laboratory science; Eloise Fong, music; Susan Carr, art; Julie Solomon, drama; Karen Foster, English; Joan Zuckerman, social science; Irja Annika Cuyugan, foreign lanugages; Feresika Bird, business; Shirley Sanguinetti, home economics; Craig Conway, trades and industrial arts.

MRS. RUTH KULIS, assistant director of the Children's Home Society in the Oakland office, showed a movie, "I'm 17 and Pregnant," to the Sand Castle Chapter of Pacifica.

The movie shows the various services for unwed mothers and phases of adoption. More information about this movie is available through Pacifica's auxiliary president, Mrs. Donald Beck.

Plans are being made for the spring luncheon and fashion show, with an international vacation time theme at the Castaway Restaurant, San Mateo, May 22.

Women interested in Children's Home Society, their adoption activities and services may attend the March 2 meeting at the home of Dora McMillan, 1104 Encanto Way, Pacifica, at 8 p.m.

Meetings are held on the first Tuesday of each month at 8 p.m., except in the summertime.

KARYN WILLIAMS and Frank Cameron exchanged wedding vows at a 5 p.m. candlelight ceremony at Hope Lutheran Church, Daly City, February 6.

Marsha Williams was maid of honor for her sister and Jerry Couter of Red Bluff was best man.

A dinner reception followed at the Hope parish hall.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Williams of Daly City. Frank is the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Cameron of Silverdale, Wash.

After a short honeymoon in Monterey, the newlyweds are making their home at Tacoma, where Karyn is a major in the Army Nurse Corp at Madigan General Hospital, Ft. Lewis, and Frank will be employed as a social worker counselor.

MRS. RODNEY KIRK, well-known Bay Area flower arranger will speak at the 8 p.m. March 2 meeting of the Daly City Garden Club at the War Memorial Building.

Mrs. Kirk is vice-president of the San Bruno Garden Club and horticulture chairman for Bay-Ocean District.

She has won most of the top awards offered in flower shows in this area. Her program will feature contemporary as well as traditional designs.

A regular feature of the meeting will be the monthly, or mini, shower show. Classes in the horticulture section are: 1. cut bloom and 2. potted plant. Flower arrangement sections call for: 1. Easter Parade—arrangement of spring flowers in a garden hat, and 2. miniature arrangement not over four inches using fresh plant material. A suggested size of container is 1½ inches.

Members are urged to attend, since election of officers is on the agenda.

WESTMOOR'S FORENSICS class recently competed in the annual El Camino Invitational speech contest, which attracts nearly 400 students from 36 high schools throughout California.

Nine Westmoor students competed in the tournament and five of these advanced to semi-finals or farther.

In the original category, Junior, Janet Bennett reached the semi-finals.

Reaching the finals in the Impromptu category was Senior Steve Scaduto, who eventually placed fourth as did Sophomore Gary McLane in the sight reading competition.

Also competing in the tournament were Junior Rich Adams, and three Freshmen Leonard Metts, Nancy Murray and Tim Powell.

Miss Mary Ann Holden, the group's advisor, transported the students to Torrance.

After the tournament, the group visited Disneyland, Universal Studios, and the University of Southern California.

Cancel Cooking Plans

Louanne Heath's Datebook

Enjoy a good spaghetti dinner? Then, cancel your plans to cook on Saturday, alert the family to the impending event, and take our hearty appetites to the spaghetti feed sponsored by the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine of Holy Angels Catholic Church in Daly City.

Mrs. Becky Salazar and her dinner committee are working very hard to make the event an especially festive one. The dinner will feature authentic Italian spaghetti along with a green salad, wine and dessert. Strolling guitarists will enliven the setting, as will the decorations in the parish hall at 107 San Pedro.

The dinner is a major fund raising event staged to provide funds for equipment and materials used in the CCD program. Cost of the dinner ranges from $2 for adults and $1 for children under 12 down to nothing for toddlers under 5 years of age. The committee will begin serving at 3:30 p.m. and guests will be seated until 6:30 p.m.

Tomorrow is the deadline for reservations and interested members of the community are asked to call Mrs. Salazar (756-6727).

MRS. CLYDE SILVERTHORN is the general chairman of a rummage sale to be sponsored by the Westlake Catholic Women March 5-6.

Mrs. Francis Kelly of the Our Lady of Mercy group said Mrs. Silverthorn has announced the names of the ladies who will be assisting with the annual benefit for the parish's building fund.

Named by Mrs. Silverthorn were her co-chairmen, Mrs. William Feeley, and the area chairmen, Mrs. Bruno Columbini, Mrs. William Kenney, Mrs. Kelly, Mrs. Frank Mullen and Mrs. William Noonan.

[illegible]'s list included Mrs. Harold Thompson, solicitations; Mrs. Robert Rickert, equipment; Mrs. Gabe Adami and Mrs. Robert White, refreshments; Mrs. Edward Glishchinski, finances and Mrs. Richard Locke, poster distribution.

The sale will be in the parish hall, 7 Elmwood drive in the Westlake section of Daly City, between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m., Mrs. Kelly indicated.

An innovation for this year's sale will be the sale of refreshments each day, a plan announced by Mrs. Silverthorn.

MANY COMPLEMENTARY and supplementary services would be denied to patients at Mary's Help Hospital, if it were not for the active Guild program. Such is the news given members of the Mary's Help Hospital Guild by the Volunteer Services Division of the California Hospital Association.

Mrs. Mario Mangini reported that members of the guild are able to contribute personal interest and bring a welcome touch of community concern to the patients, their family and their visitors in the hospital.

Complementary services by Guild members give the hospital a feeling of warmth and an atmosphere of friendliness.

In addition to the complementary services, the volunteers are able to do supplementary services for the patients which add to the well being and comfort of the patients as human beings.

The details of the importance of these services to patients' well-being was called to the attention of the guild members recently, Mrs. Mangini said.

Several local girls took part in the circus on water presented by the San Francisco Merionettes Synchronized Swim Club.

The Greatest Show on Earth, a Tribute to the Barnum and Bailey Circus featured a cast of 115 pre-teen and teenage girls in the eleventh aquacade to be presented by the famous national and international AAU Synchronized Swim champions.

Five thousand ticket buyers were on hand to applaud the girls' skill and artistry, according to Mrs. Gloria Zucker.

In the water spectacle from Daly City were Sylvia and Cindy Burns, Anne and Terri Kraemer, Linda and Nina Maive, Cathy and Lynne Shubunka and Tamera Stuckert. South San Francisco was represented by Robin Menzie.

Proceeds from the aquacade will provide money for the girls to travel to the Senior Indoor Nationals to be held during Easter Week in Charlotte, North Carolina, to the Senior Outdoor Nationals in Houston, Texas in July, and to competitions to be held in Lincoln, Nebraska; Lakewood, California and Amarillo, Texas.

If the team is able to stay in contention in the swim competition they will take part in the Pan American trials to be held this summer in Santa Clara. The finalists in that competition will go to Colombia, Central America, for the Pan American games to be staged in August, Mrs. Zucker said.

ANYONE INTERESTED in going to Canada and Alaska this summer with the members of the Fifty Plus Club of Pacifica is urged to get in touch with Mrs. Edna Calhan (564-5198) or Mrs. Elizabeth Funderburg (335-2184.)

Plans call for a full bus, and the names of enough people to actually fill a bus must be on hand soon, if the trip is to be taken. Money for reservations will be accepted up to July 6 for the junket, slated for early August, Mrs. Calhan said, but notice of intention to take the tour is required at once.

Troop 129 Scouts Win New Awards

Members of Boy Scout Troop 129 and their families recently attended the annual Court of Honor Dinner at the Hope Lutheran Church in Dily City.

Each family provided the salads and casseroles.

Honored guests of the Troop were the Rev. and Mrs. Arnin Polster, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Proctor, Al Wilson and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Cloonan.

The Court of Honor was conducted for the first time by the junior leaders of the troop. They presented merit badges to Doug Barron, Sculpture and Firemanship; Don Chambers, Safety and Firemanship; Marty Feil, Firemanship; Steve Matsunaga, Nature and Firemanship; Paul Runneals, Cycling; Scott Molver, Firemanship, Nature and Personal Fitness; Alvin Rodrigues, Nature, Fishing, Gardening and Firemanship; Keith Hammerich, Firemanship; Corey Quigley, Home Repairs.

Tenderfoot badges were given to Johnny Law, Arnie Dole ter, Paul Cologna, Shawn Cunningham, Steve MacPherson and Mike Meschi. Marc Brutschy, Brett Hansen, John Babin, Mark Tanner and Frank Bologna received First Class Awards.

First Class Scouts are Bob Little, Corey Quigley and Dave Neugebauer. Fifteen boys also received the Tot'n Chip award.

The highlight of the evening was the promotion of Keith Hammerich to Star Scout and Don Chambers to Life Scout. Former Scoutmaster Bill Cloonan presented the boys with their awards.

Troop 129 also received the National Camping Award for 15 days of overnight camping.

Coast Bridge Championships

The Pacifica Bridge Club will stage its annual club championship for silver trophies Friday at the library on Hilton and Palmetto at 7:30 p.m.

Louise Roman, Mae Schaeffer, Andy Dakis, Mel Schulz and Phoebe Price are leading the monthly series and will be in contention for the championship.

The club will stage a monthly handicap tournament starting March 5, using the golf and bowling system of rating.

Miss George to Wed Mike McGlennon

An August wedding date has been set at St. Gregory's Church in San Mateo by Mary Elizabeth George of Daly City and Michael Richard McGlennon of San Francisco.

The future bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert George of Medford, Ore. and her fiance's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Richard James McGlennon of San Mateo.

Mary is the sister of Bob, Cathy Ann, Susan, Kevin and Maureen George. Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Lentz of Hillsboro, Ore. are her grandparents. She studied at Shasta High School and the University of San Francisco where Michael also was educated.

Michael, who was graduated from Serra High School, is now employed in San Francisco. Patrick, Brian and Richard McGlennon are his brothers and Mrs. James Glanville is his sister. He is the nephew of Gertrude Illia, Marie McDonough, Vi Wallrich and the Rev. Reginald McDonough.

S.S.F. Woman to Preside Over State DFP Meeting

The 53rd annual state luncheon-meeting of the California Chapter, California State Society, Daughters of Founders and Patriots of America, will be held March 1 at the Sheraton-Palace Hotel, San Francisco.

State President, Mrs. A. Oliver Ninteman of South San Francisco, will preside at the day long session, starting with an executive board meeting at 10 a.m.

Colonel James H. Farren, senior army instructor of the San Francisco Unified School District, will be the speaker.

Among the honored guests will be Mrs. Erwin Frees Seimes, President-General of the Daughters of the American Revolution, a member of the Delaware Chapter, D.F.P.A.; Mrs. Leron Conrad Kaump, State Regent of the California State Society, D.A.R., Mrs. Newman Hall Clark, President General of the Colonial Dames XVII Century; Mrs. Donald L. Young, State President of the [illegible], CDXVII Century; Mrs. Leo A. Viano, State Regent of the California State Society, Daughters of the American Colonists; Mrs. Jules Mertens, National Third Vice President General, National Society New England Women.

Honorary Past State Presidents of the California Chapter, D.F.P.A. who will be present include Mrs. Harold P. Thompson, junior past State President and National Organizing Secretary, of Los Angeles; Mrs. Louise Hobart Rankin, Menlo Park; Mrs. Roy Lee Raymond, Los Angeles, Mrs. Jules Mertens, San Francisco, Mrs. Asa Foster Harshbarger, Los Angeles, and Miss Ruth Marie Field, Hollywood.

The National Society, Daughters of Founders and Patriots of America was organized in June, 1898 by Miss Eugenia Washington, great grandniece of George Washington, first President of the United States, together with Mrs. Henry V. Boynton and Mrs. Helen C. Loveland Irvine.

The California Chapter was formed in October, 1916.

To belong to the Daughters of Founders and Patriots of [illegible] ken paternal line of either of the applicant's father or mother, going back to a founder who arrived in one of the Colonies between May 16, 1607 and May 16, 1687, and a further stipulation that in this unbroken line there be an intermediary patriot ancestor who gave military or civil service in establishing American Independence in the period 1775-1784."

Among the objects of the Society is the preservation and restoration of genealogical records, both published and unpublished; the preservation of historical markers commemorating an historical scene or event; support of military education and presentation of the D.F.P.A. Medal and certificate of Merit to students in grade schools, high schools, colleges and universities, for excellence in specific military science courses; to cadets of R.O.T.C. Units as specified in Army Regulations 145-I; in recognition of achievement in R.O.T.C units and for historical work in schools and colleges.

Assisting Mrs. Ninteman at the annual meeting will be: Mrs. Ernest S. Ross, State Vice President, Orange; Mrs. Louise H. Rankin, Menlo Park; Mrs. Harold G. Otis, Palo Alto; Mrs. Marion C. Cheek, Ross; Mrs. Earle P. McKellar, Redding; Mrs. John G. W. Melbin, San Bruno; Mrs. Daniel J. Higgins, Auburn, and Mrs. Freeman L. Young, San Francisco.

In a Class by Himself

"In the window I smelled all the food of San Francisco. There were seafood places out there where all the buns were hot, and the baskets were good enough to eat too; where the menus themselves were soft with foody esculence as though dipped in hot broths and roasted dry and good enough to eat too. Just show me the bluefish spangle on a seafood menu and I'd eat it; let me smell the drawn butter and lobster claws. There were places where they specialized in thick red roast beef au jus, or roast chicken basted in wine. There were places where hamburgers sizzled on grills and the coffee was only a nickel. And oh, that pan-fried chow mein flavored air that blew into my room from Chinatown, vying with the spaghetti sauces of North Beach, the soft-shell crab of Fisherman's Wharf—nay, the ribs of Fillmore turning on spits! Throw in the Market Street chili beans, redhot, and French fried potatoes of the Embarcadero wino night, and steamed clams from Sausalito across the bay, and that's my ah-dream of San Francisco. Add fog, hunger-making raw fog, and the throb of neons in the soft night, the clack of high-heeled beauties, white doves in a Chinese grocery window. . . ."

The above is from "On The Road," writen by Jack Kerouac, copyright 1955.

Two years ago, I, an aspiring golfer, went up to San Francisco to observe a professional golf tournament firsthand. After a day of watching thunderous drives, masterful trouble shots and delicate chips homing toward the greens with almost mechanical accuracy, I nearly went home and threw my clubs into the bay.

I think it's that way here with Jack Kerouac. With that description of the taste, the aroma of San Francisco, I guess there's just nothing more to be said. If this old typewriter hadn't cost me fifty bucks, well. . . .

STEAK SICILIANO

1 cup Burgundy
1 small garlic clove, minced
1 Tbs Worcestershire sauce
¼ ts. oregano
1 small onion, minced
1 ts. salt
¼ ts. pepper
2 Tbs horseradish sauce
2 Tbs minced parsley
2 Tbs prepared mustard
1 Tbs sugar
2 Tbs butter
2½ lbs. round steak (1½" thick)
Adolpn's meat tenderizer, unseasoned

Combine ingredients, heat until butter melts. Cool to room temperature. Meanwhile, tenderize the meat. Pour sauce over steak, cover and refrigerate overnight, turning steak several times. Remove steak from sauce. Strain sauce, keeping solid material as well as liquid. Broil one side, turn and spread surface with solids from sauce. Broil, slice and serve.

P.S.—The Typo caught us again last week. If you saved the minestra recipe, it should be nine bunches of endive—not two.

Terra Nova Topics

By Rockie Montenegro

Student body elections for the spring semester were held at T.N. last week. The new executive board officers that will head the student government are: president, Mark Champneys; vice president, Stacy Hall; secretary, Karen Kirby; treasurer, Rick Mendez.

Commissioners are Karin Sweeney, Clubs; Sue Autrand, Rallies and Assemblies; Bruce Patterson, Student Safety and Control; Karen Collins, Publicity, and Theresa Tenney, Athletics.

The surprisingly low turn-out of candidates showed up in the apparent lack of names that appeared on the student ballots on election day. Of the nine student body offices, four offices were left unopposed. These offices were Vice President, Secretary, Commissioner of Publicity and Commissioner of Student Safety and Control.

The most sought after offices were those of President and Commissioner of Athletics, which had three candidates running for each office.

THE STUDENT BODY of Terra Nova showed a definite lack of interest in this election. Perhaps this can be attributed to student disgust with last semester's seemingly ineffective Executive Board, contempt for student government, or just plain apathy.

An amendment which would have revised the voting procedures for student elections also was defeated.

The amendment called for a registered vote. Students who wished to vote would have to register at a pre-announced location. The registration would start two weeks before the election day, and an alphabetized list of registered students would be kept.

THE ACTUAL VOTING would take place in voting booths located on campus, and would last all day. Only registered students would be allowed to vote, which would result in a more precise election by preventing the stuffing of ballots since each student's name would be crossed off as he voted.

This procedure would have made it possible for only the really interested students to vote. No one would be forced into it, thus creating a more democratic atmosphere.

The new executive board plans to present the amendment to the students again by petition, hopefully to be put to a re-vote.

Rosalinda Travis Becomes a Bride

The Holy Angels Catholic Church in Colma was the setting for the recent marriage of Rosalinda Martinez Travis and Lt. Conrado Mangapit Jr.

The couple, who honeymooned in Monterey and Carmel, is living in San Diego where the bridegroom is stationed with the U.S. Navy.

Rosalinda, who is the daughter of Dr. Rosenda Martinez Travis of Daly City, wore a fitted gown of imported French reembroidered Alencon lace for her wedding.

Wearing a deep fuchsia crepe Empire gown was Rose Lou Travis, the bride's sister who served as maid of honor. Similar costumes in paler pink with fuchsia trimming were worn by the bridesmaids, Leila Mangapit, the bridegroom's sister, and Minda Maranon and Evangelina Malonzo.

Sgt. Bruce Wilson of Castle Air Force Base served as best man for the son of the senior Conrado Mangapits of China Lake. Ushers were Danila Mangapit of Northridge, brother of the bridegroom, Danny Poblete of Long Beach and Jesse Ybanez of Daly City.

Rosalinda attended Jefferson High School and California State College in Dominguez Hills. Before joining the Navy, the bridegroom studied at Burroughs High School and earned his bachelor of science degree in engineering from the University of Southern California.

Marcia Giese Is Married

Friends and relatives of Marcia L. Giese and Kenneth D. Boone recently gathered for the couple's wedding at Hope Lutheran Church in Daly City.

The Rev. Arnim Polster conducted the service for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Armand Giese of South San Francisco and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Boone. Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was given at the home of the bride's parents.

For her wedding, Marcia wore a gold metallic brocade dress with pastel beige trim and gold accessories. A tiara headpiece with pastel yellow veiling completed her costume.

Sole attendant for the bride was Carol Miller of Daly City who wore a blue crepe gown with floral braid trim. Daniel Boone, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Boone honeymooned in Disneyland before making a home in Daly City. They are both graduates of South San Francisco High School.

Marcia is the sister of Brian, Dale and Genny Lee Giese and Mrs. Barry Beaupre. Her husband is the brother of Bruce, Barry and Judy Boone.

'One Parent Family'

The Pacifica Youth Service Bureau will present a panel on "The One Parent Family" March 1 at Vallemar School, 400 Reina del mar, at 7:30 p.m.

The decision to present this panel was made by the Family Life Education Advisory Commitee of the Youth Service Bureau. Present were Bette Turner, Carol Kirkpatrick, Jean Toplinski, Angie Workover, Alene Bedford and Becky Goranson.

The panel will include Sid Lorvan, an attorney and member of the Laguna Salada School Board, who will discuss the new divorce laws and answer questions on the legal aspects of divorce.

Art Silverman, psychiatric social worker with the North Coast County Mental Health Association will discuss family adjustment and problems of children in the "One Parent Family."

Hansel Harter and Mary Kasbevaroff of "Parents Without Partners" will discuss the emotional problems of divorce from the viewpoint of the man and the woman.

STUDENTS from Jefferson, Serramonte and Westmoor High Schools in Daly City are joining Skyline College students from Daly City in distribution of facts concerning the March 2 San Mateo Junior College tax election.

VALLEMAR SCHOOL'S sixth grade models the costumes they have made to wear at Thursday's Home-School Club meeting. The Vallemar program will be at 7:30 p.m., with a French Polynesia theme. The program's title: "We Were There Because She Took Us With Her."

Terra Novans to Compete in Event

Principal Thanos Panagoulias announced that 14 seniors at Terra Nova have been selected to represent Terra Nova in the 1971 Bank of America Achievement Awards.

The trophy winners and the study fields in which they were chosen are: Mark Champneys, science and mathematics; Sylvia Garcia, liberal arts; William Alexander, fine arts, and Janice Sawyer, vocational arts.

Trophy winners will be notified in March whether they were chosen for zone events. If chosen, they will be interviewed by a panel of civic, business and professional leaders. The winners will be chosen on the basis of scholastic records, extracurricular activities, and the interviews.

One of the purposes of the Achievement Awards program is "to stimulate and encourage high school students in their academic, vocational and citizenship training."

Panagoulias also announced that National Merit Scholarship finalists Laura Douglass and Lyn Ward, seniors at Terra Nova, have been announced as finalists in the National Merit Scholarship Program.

They will be considered for Merit Scholarships of approximately 1000 one-time National Merit $1000 Scholarships and for about 2000 sponsored Merit Scholarships renewable for up to four years of college study at an accredited college of the winner's choice.

THE POST'S Family Forum

THE Listening POST by Lyle Arnold & Alex Florea

As professional specialists in otometry, we find that considerable confusion exists as to just what our function is. Briefly, we fill prescriptions, test ears and dispense instruments to correct hearing problems, in much the same way the optometrist fills prescriptions, examines eyes and dispenses glasses to correct seeing problems. We work closely with physicians, many of whom refer patients to us when they find a condition cannot be corrected medically. We have the latest electronic equipment to measure and analyze hearing loss, as well as the extensive experience needed to select and fit exactly the right instrument to correct it.

This requires a great deal of expertise, since there are 60 basic types and hundreds of models available. And in many cases, we must determine specifications for custom-built aids to solve problems. In short, the degree of satisfaction with a hearing aid depends to a great extent on the skill of the otometrist.

If you or someone close to you has a hearing problem, we invite you to consult us at Custom Hearing Aid Service, 1130 Broadway, Burlingame. We gladly make tests without cost or obligation.

SHS Students Selected to Compete in B of A Contest

Four seniors at Serramonte High School in Daly City have been selected to represent their school in the 1971 Bank of America Achievement Awards program, Principal Louis J. Martin announced.

Selected by faculty members, the top winners will receive trophies and have the opportunity to compete for cash awards ranging up to $1,000.

The trophy winners and the study fields in which they were chosen are:

George Segall, science and mathematics; Rochelle Wolf, liberal arts; Robert Wagner, fine arts; Steven Wechsler, vocational arts.

Eleven other students were cited for their superior performance in specific fields of study and will receive certificates of merit. They were Alan Boudreau, Katie Herald, Tom Nuris, Ruben Guzman, Carolyn Cecconi, Howard Kaplan, Lawrence Nebron, Patrice Jean, Catherine Tuttle, Denise Vannucchi and Behzad Jabrizi.

After a screening committee carefully reviews the records of the trophy winners, the students chosen for the zone events will be notified in March.

Zone competition for local students will be held March 30 in San Bruno.

Film Festival

Skyline Chapter, B'nai Brith Women will hold a Yiddish Film Festival at Homestead Savings Community Hall at 130 West Portal Avenue, San Francisco, February 27 at 8:30 p.m. and February 28 at 7:30 p.m.

JHS Boosters Plan Luncheon, Fashion Show

The Jefferson High School Boosters' Club will hold its "Flight Into Fashion," a luncheon-fashion show, March 20 in the Jefferson High School cafeteria.

The event will feature fashions from Montgomery Ward, and gourmet cooking by chef Andrew AhPo.

Overall chairman for the 1971 occasion is Mrs. Frank Molinari, assisted by Mrs. Lowell Durham.

Luncheon tickets may be obtained from Mrs. Gerald Reed, 98 Marshall Way, Daly City.

Mrs. David Hatfield will handle prizes and Mrs. Paul Howe, as model chairman, will be working with fashion coordinator Olympia Martin. Mrs. Elda Van Note of Jefferson High School will be the style show commentator.

Jackie Ketchum Wins WHS Title in Homemaking

Jackie Ketchum has been named as "Homemaker of Tomorrow" at Westmoor High School.

She gained her title by scoring first in a 50-minute knowledge and attitude examination, which was taken by all the Westmoor's homemaking competition.

She received a sterling silver charm, and is also eligible for state and national honors, including one of 102 college scholarships totaling $110.00.

Miss Ketchum's plans for the future include going to College of San Mateo and later transfering to San Francisco State. Her major will be English and minor Home Economics.

Her main interests are sailing with the boatswain of the Flying Cloud, at Lake Merced, reading, dancing, music, and playing guitar for many youth groups in the district.

Success Story?

"AFTER WE PROVED it was a success they want in." These immortal words were spoken by BART director Garland Graves at a recent meeting of that agency's Administrative Committee. He was directing the comment to San Mateo County during a report on costs of "buying into" that rapid transit system. It was only one of several gems dropped by Graves that morning.

Actually, BART has proved only that an agency given billions of dollars can build something. It DOES NOT prove it is a success. That will be proven by the people of the Bay Area. We're still trying to figure out why so much time, money and effort was put into construction of the pyramids.

BACK IN PUBLIC EYE—Former Daly City councilman Edward J. Dennis is fast moving back onto the public scene. Last week he was elected to the Hillside Homeowners Improvement As- [illegible] days before, the city appointed him to the San Francisco Airport Access Project Citizens' Committee.

AND SPEAKING of Boards—It's pretty clear why Daly City is a force in county politics. They appoint people to committees and boards who ATTEND MEETINGS. Not so other communities it would appear. At the initial meeting of the SFAAP in San Bruno the other night, the host city had no "official" representation, ditto Brisbane, Colma and Pacifica. The other cities had only scattered representation. Daly City's three reps were there.

PARKING CONTROL Officer Kit Carson, over San Bruno way, tagged City manager Kit Menkin's car. After paying the $5 parking fine, Menkin asked the officer how come? "I thought it was the mayor's car," Carson apologized. Next case.

WHY IS IT when D.C. mayor Bud Lycett introduces someone it sounds like he's delivering a eulogy? Answer: His family owns the Lasswell Mortuary? Right on!

WHAT'S THE HOLDUP on development of that piece of property on the southeast corner of Southgate Avenue and Cerro Drive? A group of local medics (professional people they call 'em nowadays) want to pool their resources and buy 5.2 acres of property from Crocker Land Company to put up a professional building.

Crocker needs a variance to rezone from apartments to commercial before building the 35,000 square foot structure. For some reason, known only to the two principals involved, the talks have bogged down. This has been on the fence for too long some medics involved are shouting. From what Our Sources tell us there is some light at the end of the tunnel. Let's hope so.

NEARBY ON CERRO DRIVE is a new (attractive) convalescent hospital. Adjacent to this complex is the as yet undeveloped Savage School site. Motorcyclists have "discovered" this open space and roar around the lot to their hearts delight. We wonder if those persons inside the hospital are equally delighted by the earshattering noise. Doubtful, very doubtful.

AND HOW MUCH noise does a car or motorcycle have to make before the law stops it and issues a tag? The cycles are getting almost (but not quite) as bothersome as loose dogs and shopping carts. We've heard of cities going to the dogs before, but never to the shopping carts.

"HOW TO BEAT the high cost of living by learning." Or "hammering down the price of fixing the sink." No, but seriously folks Charlie White (of White Lumber in Daly City) thinks he has come up with a gimmick to not only bolster his business, but also help lower household repair costs everywhere. He starts a "Home Improvement Clinic" at his Junipero Serra offices March 5.

Charlie gets experts to teach classes in such diverse things as selecting the right lumber and how to use a hammer without smashing your thumb. He's got one student that we know of: Namely the Little Woman. Once she learns how to fix a broken window I can keep watching the telly.

A PHONE CALL to this column from a Mrs. Barker last week sparked several inquiries to Jefferson Elementary School officials. Mrs. Barker lives in the neighborhood where a five-year-old child was killed in a traffic accident recently. For the past year she and other concerned parents have asked school officials to deliver school children near their Collins avenue homes via school bus. It was tried for a while but abandoned when drivers claimed the roads were too narrow and there was no place to stop. Jefferson's superintendent Frank Greenwood said two members of his staff have been sent to look over the bus situation once again in the light of the road having been widened.

Our Colleges Closer, Say the Students

By JOHN HORGAN

Eddie Patton is a soft-spoken young man of 19.

He is a freshman at Canada College in Redwood City, one of three junior colleges in the San Mateo Junior College District.

A 1970 graduate of Ravenswood High School in East Palo Alto, Eddie is a food technology major at Canada.

He is getting good grades in his major—they are good enough to assure him of some degree of accessibility to some other college in the event he might have to transfer.

And that possibility—for Eddie Patton and for thousands of other students in the district—looms ominously in the coming weeks.

If an 11-cent tax override fails on March 2, the district has estimated it will have to turn away some 17,000 students in the fall of this year.

Eddie Patton will be one of them.

"I'd have to transfer to City College of San Francisco if that happened," he said this week as he tried to study in Canada's cafeteria building.

"City College is the only other school in the area that has a food technology major. I went to San Jose State for a semester but found it didn't have the courses I needed for this kind of work."

He admitted that, coming from a family of five children in East Palo Alto, the transfer to City College, some 30 miles to the north via freeway, would be "a real hassle."

"Going to school up there would be a hardship for me, that's for sure," he said.

Would he consider just quitting school entirely.

Probably not, he said. He works at an East Palo Alto recreation center to help support his education and his necessary automobile. He figures he can somehow raise the money to drive to the city and back each day.

"But it's going to be a problem if this place does close up," he noted.

Taking 12½ units this semester, Eddie had intended to go to summer school this year. But, again, he won't be able to if the tax measure fails. Summer school at all of the campuses (Canada, Skyline and San Mateo) will be one of those programs cut out in the event of a cutback.

Another Canada student, 22-year-old Dave Leikin of San Carlos, may be in even more serious trouble if the measure fails.

An accounting major and a veteran of 22 months in the front lines in Vietnam, Leikin has just recently begun his college education and he needs at least another semester or two at Canada before he transfers to a four-year school.

"It's too late for me to transfer now," he explained. "I might be able to get into Foothill or DeAnza (in a neighboring JC district) but it's doubtful because of the demand. I might end up working next year until the spring semester. Then I'd try to transfer to Long Beach State. But I'd rather not spend that year out of school.

"It took a lot to go back to school after three years in the Army and now I'm in a hurry. If this thing loses it's going to set me back some. I know it's a bad situation for me, but it's really unfortunate for all those high school seniors who won't be able to find a place to go to school."

Ginger Morris, 17, a midterm graduate from Menlo-Atherton High School, is another Canada freshman who would experience problems in the event of a March 2 defeat.

"I've only been at Canada for two weeks," she said, "But already I can see what's going to happen if this loses: I'd probably have to go to work. I'm working part-time now, but because of my age, I'm only making $1.65 an hour. If I can't find somewhere to go next fall, I'd try to work full-time for a year."

Ginger said she is a liberal arts student, taking 13½ units this semester.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Steifelmaeir are both evening division students at the College of San Mateo.

Charles, 29, has spent five semisters at CSM and has accumulated 45 units, almost half of them in night school. The assistant range master at the county's rifle range at Coyote Point, he is a recreation major at CSM.

His wife, Betsy, 24, has attended CSM for ten semesters and has totalled 70 units, most of them at night. After taking all the necessary courses to be a medical secretary, she has now decided to be a nurse and has determined to seek application into CSM's nursing program.

But the future plans of the Steifelmaeirs hinge to a great extent on the outcome of the March 2 election. Failure of the tax would cut out night school, prohibiting Charles from his normal routine.

If it fails, their household will be thrown into something of a turmoil.

"I could probably go to school in the daytime," Charles said this week, "But it would sure confuse things for us. It would mean shifting my days off to midweek."

It would probably also mean that Betsy would have to reconsider going to nursing school during the day as well. They have a five-year-old daughter to take care of.

Betsy said that, if the crush on the CSM nursing school is too great next semester, she may transfer to San Francisco State anyway.

At 27, Butch Gundran is another Vietnam veteran attending a district junior college.

A Pacifica resident, he is majoring in natural sciences at Skyline College. He graduated from Terra Nova High School in 1962 and spent four years in the Air Force. He won a Purple Heart in Vietnam.

Now, he is a freshman and back in school.

He said this week he needs at least two more semesters of work at the North County school before he can consider transferring to City College of San Francisco for some courses in radiology. He wants to be employed at a hospital in some capacity relating to radiology when he completes his training—if he can complete it.

"If this school closes," he said, "it would mean I'd probably have to go back to work. I could not afford transportation to City College every day. As it is now I live so close to Skyline it's ideal for me here."

Gundran said he is a licensed barber but that getting a barbering position is extremely difficult at this time.

"Last year 38 barbershops went out of business in San Francisco," he explained. "The labor market is terrible right now. That's one reason I went back to school—to learn another trade. My prospects of getting a job in a barbershop are very slim. That means there is a good chance I'd have to go on welfare next semester."

Gundran, one of six children, noted that he is not working now in order to devote full time to his studies.

Win or lose, foreign students at all three campuses are facing a financial crisis next semester.

Regardless of the fate of the election, they will be paying $30 a unit beginning next semester.

Two foreign students attending Canada said this means they will have to leave the district.

"I'm not going to be able to make it at those prices," Jose Pacheco, 19, of Mexico, said.

Juan Wong, 20, a Peruvian student and a pre-med major like Pacheco, agreed with Pacheco's analysis of the situation of the foreign students.

Our Viewpoint

It's Time for a Decision on the JC Tax Issue

With a show-down at the polls only a week away for the College of San Mateo emergency tax election, which would continue a 1968 tax increase of 12 cents and proposes a further 11 cents per $100 assessed valuation increase in the rate, voters in the Junior College district have but little time left for decision.

Judging from the criteria available, this appears to be the most controversial election issue in the history of the district. While organized objection to the tax increase has been negligible, individual opposition has been widespread. A well organized campaign on behalf of the tax override has been impressive and has also stimulated a high degree of individual support.

Seemingly, a great many of the voters have already made up their minds either for or against the tax increase

Yet, as in many elections, it is likely that the undecided voters will be the determining factor.

The Times has already expressed unequivocal recommendation for a "Yes" vote in editorials. The "Public Voice" columns have been open to the individual opinions and scores of letters, both for and against the measure, have been printed. Times news columns have reported, in full, all public disputation of a major character respecting the issue and have offered all the informative data obtainable.

Now, in the hope of reaching the undecided voters, The Times reiterates editorial recommendation for a "Yes" vote. The reasons for this recommendation, in brief, are:

The Times believes, in all sincerity, that the Junior College, all of the community of San Mateo County, and the educational opportunities of most of the young people in the county, will be badly hurt for many years to come if the tax measure fails to carry.

It believes that the college trustees, their staff, and a concerned faculty, have all done their very best to pare down the request for added tax revenue to an irreducible minimum.

It believes that the 11 cent rate increase being sought is realistic, modest, and will not truly injure average taxpayers to any intolerable degree. It appreciates that any added tax is a hardship, particularly to citizens of fixed income, but feels that they really know that the small cost involved is for a worthwhile purpose and almost certain to be offset by the gain in property values inherent in a good school system.

It believes that many of the arguments that have been advanced against the measure have been exaggerated and, in many cases, represent an emotional over-reaction to all taxes — local, state and federal — with the junior college a scapegoat for the taxes over which local voters have little control.

Finally, it believes that all California will be watching this election and will be prone to judge San Mateo County by its outcome.

Vote "Yes" in this junior college tax election. In the long run it will be best for San Mateo County and everyone who lives in the county, now and in years to come.

'Modesty in Dress'

James Laver's "Modesty in dress" is a penetrating glance into the human mind and a book that is sheer fun to read. What makes the fashions change? What is modesty; immodesty? Why do humans wear ornaments on their person and decorate their clothing? How do such things as sex, social standing and climate influence the styles of our clothes?

In pursuit of the answers to such questions Laver leads his readers on a merry romp through history, and as a guide his enthusiasm is contagious. Look at his chapter titles. "Modesty and Its Foes," The Lust of the Eye and the Pride of Life," "How Fashion Operates," "Frou-Frou and Fetishism," "Male and Female Created Me Them." There are eight more to make thirteen readable chapters.

His walk through history reveals to Laver that people living in a monarchy tend to wear gorgeous clothing adorning themselves with lace, long curls, buckles, buttons and beads and all other types of adornments. In democracies, however, the adornments disappear. Clothes grow simple and even the distinction between men's clothes and women's clothing tend to disappear.

ONE OF THE GREAT PRINCIPLES governing fashion holds that some styles are developed to show the degree of power held by the wearer. Thus in ages demoninated by patriarchs, men are dressed in armor, or in clothing embellished with emblems, or in wigs reserved for the heads of the mighty while women are forced to avoid anything that is manly. In ages of matriarchs however clothes became mono-sexual except for men who live under the direction of women. Then footmen, waiters, porters, and others are dressed to show their station beneath that of their mistresses.

Prophesy About Education Comes True

Over two years ago, the Rev. Theodore Hesburgh, President of Notre Dame, prophesied hard days ahead for higher education. Among other things, he said: "We are about to witness a revulsion on the part of the legislatures, state and national, benefactors, parents, alumni and the general public for much that is happening in higher education today."

Seldom has a prediction of coming events proven more accurate. The attitudes anticipated by Hesburgh have come to be and the fight to preserve our system of higher education is now under way.

The battle is taking place in two arenas. One is in the colleges, junior colleges and universities where the immediate challenge of disruption must be met. The other is with the American voter whose control over funds will determine ultimately the quality of advanced education. Stated briefly, the on campus struggle is being won, and that of the ballot box is in doubt.

The campus situation has improved. With time, the academic community has acquired many of the skills necessary to respond to violence. In addition, the momentum of the student revolution has perceptibly slowed. The painful spasms of prior years have subsided and the colleges and universities have largely returned to their role as places of learning and inquiry. It is reasonable to hope that this trend will continue.

But the other battle — the fight at the ballot box goes on and is in a crucial stage at present. Why, one might ask, is public support in such doubt just as things are returning to normal?

The answer, as usual with matters electoral, is rooted in public apathy. Because most citizens pay little attention to public affairs, our politics are deeply influenced by images. Images give a fleeting view of an issue or candidate and leave a general but often deceptive impression of reality.

The modern public relations man is a product of public disinterest. His job is to impose a broad impression upon the public mind, and lazy people vote for or against this image. A really informed electorate would, for example, never accept a campaign shibboleth such as "courage" as the determinative factor in an election. It would want to know about the whole man and his relation to current issues. Slothful citizens have produced slothful campaigning including the banal and almost insulting use of the media.

But images can arise from sources other than the back rooms of modern political alchemists. The public, with full assistance of the media, can develop its own images. These self-inflicted impressions are also the result of apathy and sloth, but can be much harder to stamp out.

Such an image has developed about higher education. The uninformed see hairy rioters, not students. The lazy vividly remember scenes of campus disorder and have no balancing knowledge of education as it really is. They recall the violent acts of less than one per cent of our students and know almost nothing of the diligence of the ninety nine plus per cent who have made education their business.

To make things worse, this image is stirred by demagogues who make the social argument against bond issues and tax overrides. These persons and those who have always been against all bond issues presently combine to scare the uninformed into defeating such measures. They can only succeed with the unknowing aid of the uninformed.

This fight against demagoguery and false images is likely to continue for several years and the future of higher education will be molded in a long series of local and state wide elections. If the politics of retaliation prevails public apathy will have ruined our educational system.

Now all this doesn't mean that every issue affecting education deserves an affirmative vote. It suggests, however, that the merits of each proposal should be given honest consideration, and that a "yes" vote is the only reasonable response to opposition that refuses to come up with convincing specifics.

It is unfortunate that a nation whose development and success is so deeply dependent upon education must question its support of a subject so fundamental. This, however, is a major challenge of our times and can only be confronted by an informed and participating citizenry.

Rams Clinch NPL Tie for Title

Nothing has come easy this year for the Westmoor High School Rams. Highly touted at the start of the year, the Daly City quintet has had to scrap and fight every inch of the way towards the North Peninsula League basketball title.

The co-defending NPL champs won their 11th game of a rough campaign Friday 53-43, over El Camino High School's intense but undermanned Colts to insure no worse than a tie for the title.

In other conference action, Terra Nova dropped South San Francisco from the slim title hopes the Warriors maintained by edging the visiting SSF quintet, 64-61. Jefferson remained mathematically in the race by downing Half Moon Bay, 82-51, while Oceana handled Serramonte, 50-40.

The Westmoor-Camino game was something less than a study in artistic basketball on both sides. But the Westmoor five proved much more adept at hitting free throws and layins and handling the ball with ease while their visiting counterparts had problems in these areas. Camino missed 12 free throws and at least as many layins. Still they trailed by just 10 at halftime, 30-20.

Missed shots and turnovers enabled the Daly City five to build up as much as a 22-point lead in the second half as buckets were few and far between for the Colts. Westmoor threw a game-long zone at the Colts but Camino couldn't compensate with any degree of outside shooting accuracy.

After a very slow start, Westmoor guard Brad Quanstrom finished with 18 points playing his final home game of his prep career. Camino forward Vince Howard led the losers with 14.

In last week's most exciting action, a see-saw battle between the Warriors and the Tigers ended on a weird out of bounds play in the last two seconds of the game. Both South San Francisco and Terra Nova had exchanged leads throughout the game and neither team was able to build up more than a five-point bulge. The Tigers were riding the scoring of Jeff Wellemeyer, who ended with 32 points, while the Warriors were leaning towards veteran forward Mike Young most of the way.

A layin by guard Gene Mackey with 40 seconds remaining brought SSF within one, 62-61. After the Tigers missed a bonus free throw situation South City regained possession and began shooting at the bucket with eight seconds left. Two shots rolled off, the ball hit a Tiger player and rolled out of bounds with two seconds left.

But a Warrior player stepped on the line trying to inbound the ball, the Warriors lost possession and were forced to foul enabling Dave Champneys to hit two free throws with no time left.

Oceana's third quarter fast breaking offense allowed the Sharks to pull away from a stubborn Serramonte five. Junior center Terry Johnston was held to his lowest total in three weeks, 15 points, but still led all scorers. The Sharks were able to maintain a comfortable 12-15 point lead throughout the second half until subs filtered in from both benches.

Ken Smith's rebounding and scoring was too physical for the visiting Half Moon Bay Cougars yesterday as the Indians took a firm hold on second place in the NPL. Smith ended with 24 points in a strong second-half inside-shooting exhibition.

Getting the most possible mileage out of two sensational guards, the Rams broke the NPL first-place deadlock by upending the Jefferson Indians, 81-75, yesterday on the Indians' home court. Jeff is now tied for second with the South San Francisco Warriors.

Guards Dave Riley and Brad Quanstrom were virtually unstoppable. Riley, who scored 17 of his game-high 26 in the first half, carried the stuttering Ram offense in the opening periods with outside shots considered out of range for most high school shooters. But his deadeye accuracy from 20 feet out enabled Westmoor to stay close in the early going.

Jefferson center Ken Smith was doing a super job stopping the Westmoor inside game in that first half. Both teams committed numerous fouls by halftime (23 by the buzzer) as the officials were rightfully calling everything in sight. Smith got into foul trouble three minutes into the second quarter, though, and the Indians frittered away a 30-23 lead as Riley and Quanstrom opened up from outside with Smith on the bench.

Smith went wild in the third

Sad Finale For Falcons

Crestmoor basketball coach Pete Pontacq says he wishes the season were starting all over today, instead of ending.

His Falcons put it all together for the second game in a row at Aragon last night, but lost a squeaker to the Dons 60-57.

Crestmoor led by as much as nine points midway in the second half, but couldn't seem to pull away, and Aragon came back to tie it up.

The Falcons pulled away again in the third quarter, outshooting the Dons from the field as Center Mark Spacher dominated the boards.

But Aragon, led by record-breaking shooter Bill Lewis, pulled back to within one point, 56-55, with less than three minutes left.

Crestmoor went into a stall for almost a minute, worked inside for a layup, but missed.

The Dons rebounded, brought the ball down quickly, and Lewis hit a baseline jumper with 1:45 left to put the Dons ahead for good.

Crestmoor missed its next chance, fouled, and the Dons' Steve Robb got both shots on a one-and-one to put Aragon up by three. Seconds later, he converted on another one-and-one to ice the game. Crestmoor's Danny Cox came back with a quick field goal, but that's all there was time for.

Crestmoor had actually outshot Aragon from the floor, 24-19. But the Dons popped in an incredible 22 of 25 from the foul line. The Falcons got 10 charities in 14 chances, but that wasn't enough.

"Actually, both teams played a good ball game," Pontacq said. "It's tough to lose when you've played well. But Aragon showed a tremendous amount of poise out there.

"We've got a young team, though. We're getting eight kids back, including four starters. I think we're in pretty good shape."

Aragon travels to Burlingame tonight for the season finisher. Crestmoor is through already, having finished in last place in the MPL with a 2-10 record.

Like a young child, the Crestmoor Falcons respond favorably when positively reinforced.

And the San Mateo Bearcats played the role of kind parents Wednesday, succumbing to the hot-shooting Falcons 78-64 before a diminutive but vocal crowd in the Crestmoor gymnasium.

The Falcons have had some fine starts this season but have been unable to sustain their effectiveness over an entire four quarters.

Wednesday's game was an outstanding exception.

Crestmoor presented a beautifully balanced attack coupled with a fine job on the boards by center Mark Spacher, who pulled down 19 rebounds.

The first period set the tone for the afternoon. Crestmoor took a 21-9 lead behind a 10-point effort by Ken Bowman, and didn't once relinquish the advantage.

San Mateo got a lift of sorts in the second period from forward Owen Woods, who came on to hit four hoops, but the Falcons kept the pressure working in their favor, breaking the 'Cats' press easily to lead by 11 at the half.

Sportscripts

As we write this, baseball's rules hierarchy has yet to institute another statistic to further clutter the rule book and cram the box scores — namely, the Team Error.

The purpose of the team error, according to its champions, is to penalize a team rather than an individual in certain situations, such as when a perfect throw to a bag from an outfielder hits a runner (the outfielder is given the error if the runner advances a base, despite his perfect throw), when an outfielder loses a ball because of the elements (getting lost in the sun, being caught up in a Candlestick wind, etc.), when fielders collide when going for a ball which then falls safely, and like that.

Obviously, the thinking for the team error is that in such cases, not only are the defensive players unjustly penalized, but that in certain circumstances, like in the pop fly lost in the sun, the pitcher is also penalized, and the hitter unjustly rewarded.

We were about to do a diatribe on the dangers inherent in passing such a rule into baseball law — it would eliminate some problems but breed new ones — when we coincidentally discovered an editorial which was done in the December 26, 1970 Sporting News and which had escaped our notice. The editorial says it better than we ever could, and says it shorter, which we think our readers will especially appreciate. So, following are excerpts from that editorial:

"TEAM-ERROR ENTHUSIASTS, who seem confined largely to the New York press, insist in trying to make two plus two always equal four in baseball as well as arithmetic. We wish them well, but now that their team error is about to correct one 'injustice,' what do they propose doing about the dribbler down the third base line which goes for a cheap hit? How will they rectify matters for the batter who smashes one 400 feet for just another out? What will they do about cheap pitching victories, and how will they compensate the pitcher who loses, 1-0, on two errors in the ninth?

"Over the short haul, some baseball verdicts just don't add up. They appear unfair. But over an entire season, all the breaks seem to even up. Henry Aaron may see half a dozen of his line drives caught, then beat out four or five cheapies. At year's end, he's right where he always is — at or near the top.

"The team error is more likely to foster questionable judgments and bitter arguments than to alleviate alleged injustices . . ."

And if we might illustrate just such an incident which, as the Sporting News says, could foster "bitter arguments." What happens when the home-town pitcher pitching in front of the home-town scorekeeper has a no-hitter going into the ninth and an outfielder misplays a routine fly into a hit? How hard would it be for the official scorer of the day to go to the clubhouse after the game and ask the outfielder if the sun got in his eyes? And how hard would it be for the outfielder to admit that such a thing had happened. It would gain his teammate a ride to the Hall of Fame and lift the goat horns off his head. And it would cause a bitter controversy.

And what would a score keeper under the team-error rule had done with former Giant pitcher Billy Loes the day Loes muffed a hopper back to the box and claimed that the sun had gotten in his eyes?!

WHILE WE'RE STILL WITH the Sporting News: the current issue has an interview with former Yankee-Red Sox pitching great Carl Mays, who is quite upset that Rube Marquard, the Giant-Dodger stand-out lefty, made the Hall of Fame while Mays isn't even being given passing consideration. "I had a better record than him," says Mays, and he's right. The Sporting News didn't go into much detail on their comparative records, so if you're interested, here they are:

They both pitched in roughly the same era (Marquard 1908-25, Mays, 1915-20) and are only two years apart in age, Marquard the older. Mays won 207 games, Marquard 205. But Mays lost only 126, a winning percentage of .622, while Marquard dropped 177, a .537. Mays' lifetime ERA was 2.92, Marquard's 3.08. Marquard completed 48.8 per cent of his starts, Mays 70 per cent. Marquard allowed 8.6 hits per game, Mays 8.7. Marquard struck out 4.3 men per game, walked 2.2. Mays struck out 2.3, walked 2.2. Marquard, who pitched almost 300 more innings than Mays, threw only one more shutout (30-29). Marquard won 20 or more games three times (and 19 once), while Mays turned the trick five times (and twice had 19). They both had highs of 27. Marquard led the league once in wins, once in loses, once in winning percentage, once in strikeouts. Mays led once in wins, once in winning percentage, once in total appearances, twice in complete games, once in innings pitched, twice in shutouts, and even led in saves twice when he doubled a couple of years as a relief pitcher. Mays is also one of the rare few pitchers who has won 20 in both

Knicks Down Bucks at Vista Mar

Both playground attendance and activities have soared at Vista Mar. T-shirts, shorts and other casual wear dominated the scene last week at the Daly City school.

In the hunch league, the Stonyford Knicks held off a very strong second half spurt by the Brooklawn Bucks, to emerge victorious 104-102. At the intermission the Knicks were ahead, 48-36 on Chris Lang's 22 points and accurate passing, but the spark to the Knicks in the second half was Bob Merrill, who bagged 20 in that period and neutralized the Bucks scoring of Dan McNabb who ended up with 26 points. The game ended in frustration for the Bucks as they failed to make five straight, desperate shots, thus ending the game at the final exciting score.

In the Carroms championship, Roger Homer reigns as champ now, after he deposed former king Howie Bauer. Homer beat Howie two games straight and then continued his winning ways by defeating Steve Christiansen.

The Yo Yo season will culminate Friday and Saturday, February 19-20 at the parks finals.

New contestants are Patti Murphy, Shelly and Steve Adami and Mark Cody.

The first of a series of three Yo Yo contests at the Vista Grande recreation program was held on February 12.

The winners for the boys were Ken Bates, 10, first; Victor Ruiz, 10, and Chris Holden, 12.

The winning girls were: first place, Maria Wetherbee, 11; and Marcella Wetherbee, 10.

Contestants exhibit their skill in performance of 10 basic yo-yo tricks: "The Spinner," "Walking the Dog," "The Creeper," "Around the Corner," "Skin the Cat," "Rocking the Baby," "Sleeping Beauty," "Three Leaf Clover," "Loop the Loop," and "Man on the Flying Trapeze."

The Bicycle Safety Contest is in its fourth week. The award winners to date are Paul Gfroerer, first week; Eugene Moll, second week; and Jane Kast, third week.

Capuchino Bests Knights in Finale

By JERRY LITTRELL

The icing was a little thinner and not quite as sweet for the Hillsdale High School Knights as their surprisingly successful 1971 championship season drew to an unhappy close Saturday night in San Bruno.

With the Mid-Peninsula League title already neatly tucked away and a final-round berth assured in the Central Coast Section Regional playoffs, Hillsdale was going only for an undefeated season and statistics in the regular season finale against Capuchino's Mustangs. But Jimmy Johnson's whirlwind cagers made mincemeat of the conference champions with a 77-64 victory.

The loss broke a 15-game win streak for Homer Zugelder's lads who had won their last four practice games and 11 straight MPL outings. In losing, however, Knight forward Vance Schram became Hillsdale's all-time single-season scoring leader with 268 points, the final 16 coming against Capuchino. Schram overtook the previous record of 263 set in 1968 by Hillsdale's sensational outside shooting guard, Rob Baker.

Hillsdale now is able to take this week off from competition and wait for the outcome of the North Peninsula League-West Catholic Athletic League semifinal game this Friday night at College of San Mateo. The Knights take on the winner of that contest Saturday evening for the right to enter the sectional championships the following week.

"The season was great but I didn't like that last game at all," said Zugelder after the Capuchino loss.

"The game was great but I didn't like the season at all," said Johnson after his Mustangs had to settle for second place in the conference.

"We were murdered, it was plain and simple," added Zugelder. "Cap shot well, ran well and rebounded well. I'm just grateful that we weren't playing for the championship, that's all."

Actually, Capuchino only did one thing different than when the teams met the first time and Hillsdale won. This time the Mustangs cut down their turnovers and ran the fast-break virtually without error. A noticeable lack of intensity, an excusable fault considering the circumstance, plagued the Knights who committed numerous physical and mental mistakes — something they had not done before.

Hillsdale didn't have the services of sixth man Rob Dean, who was sitting out the game after sustaining an ankle injury in practice last Thursday. He possibly could have played but Zugelder wasn't taking any chances with the CCS regionals coming up.

Cap's shooting percentage was phenomenal in the second half. With guard Keith Hernandez and forward Steve Newberry hitting from all angles, the Mustangs were able to build up as much as a 24-point lead twice in the late going. Junior forward Rob Silver's three-point play followed by Hernandez' steal and layin made the score 62-38 with just 5:25 remaining and signalled the entrance of subs for both sides.

Guards Ron Doss and Ed Kertel provided some ball handling and stealing heroics for the losers but Hillsdale was unable to hit at all outside the Mustang zone and the forced driving layin attempts kept rolling off the hoop most of the night.

leagues (22 and 21 with Boston, 26 with the Yankees in the AL; 20 with Cincy in the NL).

Marquard appeared in five World Series, Mays in four. Marquard had a lifetime World Series mark of 2-5, with a 2.76 ERA, completing eight of his 11 starts. Mays had a 3-4, 2.20, completing seven of his eight starts.

On all-time lists, Marquard stands fifth in both number of game appearances and games started. Mays is sixth in complete games. Marquard did throw a no-hitter. Mays never managed it. But hell, Mays even out-hit Rube, .268 to .179, hit five homers to his one, drove in and scored twice as many runs.

We agree with Mays. Marquard deserved to make it. And if he did so, certainly, did Mays. But like so many other honors which are meted out in our society, Hall of Fame membership hinges largely on politics. Marquard was a popular, colorful figure. Mays was the man who killed the only baseball player ever killed in the major leagues by a pitched ball — Ray Chapman of Cleveland, in 1920. Mays was a loner type, not always the most pleasant man in the world, not always so nice to sports writers, and not always such a good copy. And Mays elicited no sympathy when, the year after the Chapman incident, rather than collapsing with remorse, he had his greatest year, winning 27 for the Yankees and leading them to a pennant. "It was Chapman's fault," says Mays. "I threw a strike. He stepped across the plate."

IF YOU HAVE BEEN WATCHING Saturday college basketball on television, you have probably already discovered what we had thought would be impossible — that Monte Moore, also of the Athletics, says as many ridiculous things about basketball as he says about baseball.

We could offer many examples, but the following one stands as the all-time classic, one that should withstand the ravages of time as the one inane statement in sports which should make the telling of all others superfluous, and here it is:

UOP held an eight point lead over USF at halftime. Shortly after the second half had begun, a Don tossed in a free throw, making the score 50-43, UOP.

"Well," intoned Monte, quivering with excitement, "After having left the court at half-time with an eight point deficit, that bucket puts the Dons right back in the ball game."

This week we had some space to fill.
So we thought we'd whip up a rhyme;
For as you steady readers know,
We do a poem from time to time.

Football is finally over,
Baseball has not yet begun,
Basketball won't get exciting,
'Till all the divisions are won

Of course there is track and tennis,
But no matter how hard we tried,
There wasn't one single thing,
That would leave you readers satisfied.

So we just said to hell with it,
We will leave the damn column short;
Maybe we'll have a rhyme for you
On a subsequent report.

Westmoor Grabs First Place

period getting 11 points and six rebounds. The lead was switching back and forth as neither team could open more than a four-point bulge. Just before the fourth period began, however, Gary Stoller's baseline jumper and Quanstrom's 15-footer, following two free throws, upped the Westmoor margin to seven, 64-57. They never trailed after that.

Twice in the fourth period Jeff closed to within two. Then came a rather mysterious play. With Jeff trailing, 74-71, the Indians shot and missed. Smith and forward Gavin Long went up for the rebound and both came down with the ball. A brief whistle sounded and one official began a signal for a jump ball. By now Westmoor had full possession and confusion reigned.

Neither official knew who blew the whistle. They awarded the ball to Westmoor until a conference determined that the mysterious whistle sound caused Smith to release the ball on a jump ball as the Westmoor fans exploded.

Four free throws after that point iced the game, and possibly the title, for the Rams.

South San Francisco regained a share of second place and El Camino took an overtime upset victory to highlight Wednesday's North Peninsula League basketball action.

The Warriors upended last-place Serramonte, 82-56, while Camino edged Oceana, 53-52, in an extra period. Terra Nova took the other conference game, 78-44, over Half Moon Bay.

South City exploded for 22 points to just eight for the Regents in the first period and never had any real problems. Mike Young scored 27 for Gene Mullin's crew as they pulled to within one game of league-leading Westmoor. SSF shot a sizzling 61 per cent from the floor.

Two clutch one-plus one free throw situations by center Steve Umland, one in the regulation game and the other in overtimen helped propel the Colts to their sixth win of the campaign. With 43 seconds left in regulation play Umland hit his two free throws and Camino trailed, 50-49. Senior Glen Brede gave the Sharks an added point with his own free throw with 18 seconds left. Then forward Vince Howard hit a layin off an inbounds play with no time left and the game went into overtime.

Shark center Terry Johnston, who had 19 points, hit Oceana's only overtime point with a free throw as soon as the overtime began. With 1:06 left, Umland again connected on the bonus charity shots and both teams exchanged missed attempts as the clock ran out.

Forwards Jeff Wellemeyer and Dave Champneys combined for 43 points as Terra Nova downed the host Cougars by 34 points. Playing volleyball against the smaller Cougars, the Tigers controlled the boards and the game with superior height and good medium-range shooting.

Skyline Is Seeking a Big Season

All that coach Walt Rilliet's Skyline College cagers need do is win one of their final two games and the season can be considered a success.

However, Rilliet's Trojans, who are now an even 6-6 in the tough Camino Norte Conference, are going to be shooting for both victories.

Skyline travels to West Valley Wednesday and then comes home to host Contra Costa Saturday night in the finale.

Last Saturday night Skyline claimed the College of San Mateo district title by defeating southern cousin Canada College, 81-71, in the Colts' gym.

The story was told in the first half where Skyline jumped out to a commanding 18-6 lead in the early minutes and coach Jerry Drever's lads lost 6-6 center Bob Mitchell on fouls just before the half. Skyline center Reynolds and guard Matt Paul Kriletich combined to score 27 of the team's 42 first half points.

"The second half was a see-saw battle," noted Rilliet, "with the free throws telling the difference." Rilliet pointed out that it was the first time this year that Skyline won a game at the charity stripe. "Usually it goes the other way," he quipped.

"It was also our most consistent night of the season as we hit 54 per cent and out-rebounded them, 39-26," he added. The Trojan coach praised Reynolds, who hit on nine of 11 shots from the field and four out of six free throws for 22 points. "It was his best game," Rilliet concluded.

DeAnza College of San Jose defeated Skyline College cagers, 82-60 Wednesday.

Coach Walt Rilliet's lads stayed with the visitors for three-quarters of the way, but then gave way to experience and the superior shooting strength of DeAnza.

Utilizing a full-court press, Skyline's Matt Kriletich accrued his third foul and was removed. Five straight long jumpshots by little guard Dave Blasquez rallied DeAnza back into contention and they left the floor at intermission with a 42-38 lead.

Junior High League Play in Daly City

The Daly City Recreation Division started a new Junior High School Instructional Basketball league at Colma School last week.

Four playgrounds and approximately 60 boys, not playing on organization or school teams, are entered.

The program is designed to teach boys the skills and fundamentals of basketball.

In first round action, the Robertson School Stars took a 46-43 overtime victory from the George Washington School Gorillas. Eric Johnson poured five points through the hoop in the overtime period to lead the Stars to their win. Assisting Johnson and his team were Rich Counts scoring 16 points and Gerald Batton scoring 12 points.

The Gorillas put together an effort led by Ralph Howard, 13 points, Rick Green, 12 points, and Jaime Mateo, nine points.

The Colma School Gators used a pressing defense and a sharp-shooting offense as they overwhelmed the Skyline School Indians, 70-11. The Gators were paced by Frank Duncan, Darrell Ball, Phil Balestrieri, Kevin O'Connor and Andrew Vallejo.

Ball led the Gators scoring with 18 points.

The Indians were paced by the efforts of T. Ambegia, F. Frazitta, S. Banfiglio, and E. Holt.

Mini-Bike Track Plan

There is interest in the establishment of a supervised mini-bike program in Pacifica, but much time may pass before enthusiasts have a legal track of their own.

Pacifica's Health and Safety Commission is supporting formation of an organized mini-bike group. However, a number of questions remain unanswered, according to Police Capt. Otto Saltenberger, who is involved in proposed activities.

Saltenberger pointed out last week, after a Health and Safety Commission meeting attracted nearly 50 persons, that the next step toward a possible municipal sanction is Park, Beach and Recreation Commission review.

He said he hoped the PB&R might consider incorporating a mini-bike program into the recreation program—whic ultimately will require city council approval.

Any program, he admitted, will require a corps of persons to assist ,to supervise and to set ment — or some private group to assist, to supervise and to se up a course.

"We're throwing it up for public opinion at this stage," Saltenberger said.

He said he wanted to "emphasize that this is not going to be a police-operated function."

The police department's primary interest is in safety and the illegal use currently of mini-bikes on the city's streets by underage operators he said.

Hyatt House Center For Banquets - Conventions

The Hyatt House Burlingame, one of the truly fine food and lodging establishments in the Bay Area, is also a center for banquets and conventions. General Manager Bill Griffin and his capable catering crew can handle almost any type of business, political or social function, with up to 400 persons being easily accommodated . . . El Smits, the new Villa Chartier manager, will soon introduce an entirely new menu of Europeän delicacies in the Fireside Room. Classic European dishes such as Canard Flambe a L'Orange and Le Boeuf Wellington will be included in the connoisseur menu. Authentic specialties of Italy and France will be prepared by new chef Jim Metreyeon. Wine lovers may select their own vintage right from the bin in the Wine Gallery. Watch for the opening date . . . Vince Indorante's Swinging Door, located on East 25th Avenue, San Mateo, has been refurbished and is now offering music and dancing in the upstairs loft. All the beer you can drink is served every Thursday, Friday and Saturday night, with males paying a set price according to the hour of the evening; women are admitted free or pay $1.50. Vince reserves the right to limit the number of women allowed in free. Complete meals are also served; open seven days a week.

MEXICAN GRANDEUR — Nick Gust's Papagayo Room, a handsomely decorated restaurant affording a vista view of the Pacific's splashing breakers on the shores of Rockaway Beach, Pacifica, continues to attract diners from all over the Bay Area with its true Mexican food and friendly atmosphere. Drawing countless numbers to this festive scene is the "Two for the price of one" Mexican Combination Dinner coupon offer. Present the coupon to your waitress and receive one free dinner with the purchase of at least one other dinner. This fantastic offer expires Wednesday, March 31.

Extensive New Menu For The Beach House

Frank Martinelli, well known Peninsula restaurateur and owner of San Mateo's new Beach House, offers an extensive, new menu for both luncheons and dinners. Selections range from Beach House Specials to Beachcomber Specials, which are changed daily. Sea foods are prominent throughout the menu, but such diverse items as spaghetti and Teriyaki steak are also listed. Salads are many (here again seafood prevails), as well as several side orders, desserts and beverages. Sunday Brunch, served 10:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m., features Eggs Benedict and fizz for $3.50. Open from 11:30 a.m. to 10 p.m. daily . . . Margie Brandon, the classy "Clancy Kid," continues to "blow her cool" at the organbar of Clancy's, a swinging bistro in San Francisco. Between cutting records, modeling gowns, giving concerts and tending to her "kennel" of pets, Margie manages to stay right at the top of the "Hit parade" . . . If you seek the uncommon in wines and liqueurs, try the cellar and bar at L'Auberge in Atherton. Louis Frutschi, maitre d' and partner, delights in discovering superior, yet moderately priced vintages.

F. Martinelli

Phil Lehr's Steakery in downtown San Francisco, open seven evenings a week, is a convenient dinner stop for theatergoers. It's within easy walking distance of ten downtown theaters, has ample parking at the door, and Lehr's famous Pay-By-The-Ounce steak dinners . . . All means of transportation to Lake Tahoe's South Shore are offered by Park Avenue Tours. Daily departures via Greyhound buses from San Francisco, Oakland, San Jose. Special charters can be arranged for overnighters or Turnarounds (spending eight hours and returning). Destinations in Lake Tahoe, South Shore, are Barney's Casino and South Tahoe Nugget. Generous bonuses are offered . . . A good pizza is often hard to find, what with all the slapdash work some chefs offer these days, but you never go wrong at Romano's Italian restaurant, located in Pacifica's colorful Rockaway Beach. Give all the credit to Enrico Romano and his mother, Enricketta, perfectionists supreme . . . Reggie Dahl's interpretation of a tightrope walker in Finocchio's long-running show on North Beach is so realistic it makes ringsiders gasp. This talented dancer (he studied ballet in Chicago) is also getting a big response to his take-off of a Gypsy Rose Lee striptease.

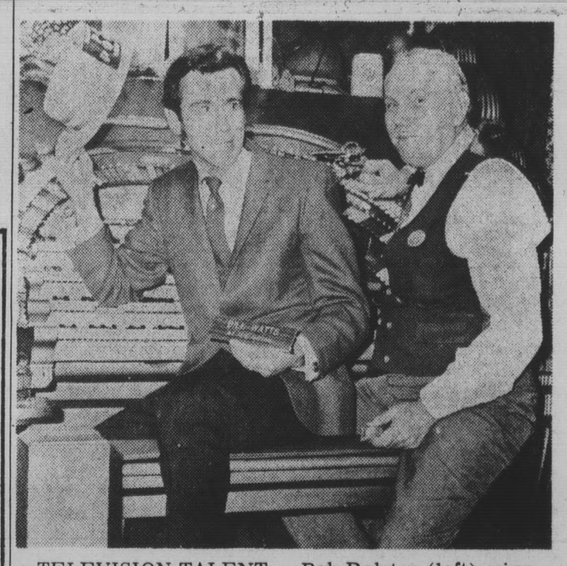
Banquet Room Setting For Rasmussen Party

Dave Rasmussen, auto dealer, rancher and owner of The Shadows of San Mateo, hosted a "small" dinner party, one recent evening, which mushroomed into an affair worthy of a spacious banquet hall. Rasmussen, who probably knows and is known by more people than almost anyone on the Peninsula, has been known to host three or four such gatherings a year. The site was the Shadows' elegant Banque Room, and over 100 of his close friends (prominent business, political and sports figures) were on hand to relax and enjoy a gourmet meal prepared by Executive chef Peter Selaya . . . Yolanda's Terminal Cafe, situated in South San Francisco's Golden Gate Produce Terminal, was one of the first Bay Area restaurants to offer "family-style" dining, and this policy is still in effect. Yolanda's serves old-fashioned Italian dinners, with every meal including six courses. Dinners are complete with soup, salad, pasta, vegetables and a seven-ounce bottle of wine. Two main courses include meat and fowl . . .

Dave Rasmussen



TELEVISION TALENT — Bob Ralston (left), pianist and organist on the Lawrence Welk TV show who was a visitor to Ken's Melody Inn of Los Altos, joined Bill Watts, the old-time theater organist who is the regular entertainer at the restaurant. Ralston was so impressed with the 1500 pipe organ, which was formerly at the Paramount Theater in Oakland, that he is planning to do a concert at Ken's Melody Inn in the near future.

Tom Judy Director Of Sales Miyako Hotel

Tom Judy, new Director of Sales at the Miyako Hotel in San Francisco, was raised in San Mateo and attended Hillsdale High School, after which he attained a B.A. degree in Hotel Administration at Washington State University in 1968. Previous to his Miyako Hotel assignment, Tom worked at the Olympic Hotel in Seattle, Washington for Western International Hotels, and more recently at the Antlers Plaza Hotel in Colorado Springs . . . Fabbro's originally opened for business in Redwood City in 1934 as only a bar, which served lunch to special family friends. Mary Fabbro, Frank's mother, was then persuaded into serving lunches and dinners on a full-time basis. In the years to follow, Fabbro's restaurant history has been made . . . The Villa Hotel's "Copper Skillet" menu, a favorite of many traveling businessmen who visit the Peninsula regularly, as well as the local set, offers variety for big and small appetites in the Villa Coffee House, and is served from 11 p.m. to 7 a.m. Daily specials, family dining and the children's menu are 24 hour Villa Hotel features.

Frank Fabbro

Frank and Fannie Torres are back in action at their Montara restaurant overlooking the rugged but beautiful waters of the Pacific. They enjoyed a month of vacation. Torres' restaurant is famed for South American specialties, and now that the restaurant is going full swing again we recommend you drop in and try one . . . Men are finding it hard to believe that the shapely dancer Clarita Fazzari at the Sinaloa cantina is a mother of two fine sons. Her figure looks as great as it did some years ago when she began her show business career on the stage of this famed Mexican restaurant-night club . . . Rumor has it: The Leaning Tower's Lou Ercoli already has season tickets for next year's 49er games. Of course, their home encounters will be played at nearby Candlestick Park, just minutes away from the South City restaurant, and he shouldn't have to fret about rushing back to handle the Sunday evening dinner business . . . Popular radio disc jockey Don Sherwood still considers the Greek Taverna to be his favorite Grecian dining spot. Not only that but Don loves to ogle the lovely belly dancers who sensuously snake their way across the dance floor to the music of the Trio Orfeo.

'Friends' Member Campaign Starting

The Friends of the Daly City Library will launch its annual membership drive through the month of March.

Mrs. Vinton Stratton, membership chairman, said membership fees range from $1 for an individual and $2.50 for the family to $5 for organizations and $25 for "patrons."

Mrs. John Connolly, co-chairman, pointed out that the Friends is a non-profit organization whose purpose "is to stimulate continuing community interest in the activities of the Daly City Library."

Mrs. Stratton explained that the Friends have created community interest that led to erection of the Westlake branch and how the organization is working to have the small Daly City library on Mission street moved to the old city hall on Wellington Avenue.

Each year, the Friends present the library system with an outstanding gift, and in the course of services to the libraries have presented them with a display case, a moveable display rack, a bulletin board, a set of topographical maps, a collection of books in large print editions for the visually handicapped, Mrs. Stratton said.

In addition, she said, they introduced a collection of circulating phonograph records and a collection of circulating prints of great art.

She added that the friends will be acknowledging National Library Week on April 21, and will honor their first librarian, Miss Jean O'Rouke, and those who have followed.

Members also are marking books for their May used book sale, an annual community attraction, and donations of books are needed, Mrs. Stratton said.

14th Birthday for Friends of DC Library

The Friends of the Daly City Library will observe its 14th Birthday at the Thursday morning book review at 10 o'clock in the Coral Room of the Westlake Library on Southgate Avenue.

Mrs. Thomas A. Jovick, president, has designated this meeting to honor all the past presidents of the organization.

This is also the 10th anniversary of the book review series, the community service project of the Friends.

Mrs. F. Lincoln Walter, chairman of the Book Review Committee, will present the guest reviewer, Mrs. Natalie King of South San Francisco.

Mrs. King has authored many articles and short stories for various popular magazines and has a dozen published books to her credit.

Her books are light, romantic novels about young women in a variety of careers.

MRS. ROBERT COLEMAN
(Nanette May)

County Residents Exchange Vows

St. Roberts Church in San Bruno was the setting for the recent marriage of Nanette Louise May of that city and Robert W. Coleman of South San Francisco.

The Rev. Richard C. Fry conducted the nuptial Mass for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene F. May and the son of Mrs. Ruth Coleman.

Nanette recited her vows in a satin and chantilly lace gown accented with a mandarin collar and lace sleeves. She changed to a two piece red ensemble for her wedding tour of the United States.

A lavender Juliet styled dress with deep purple satin sash, bow and streamers was worn by all the attendants.

Mrs. Susan Cheeseman was the matron of honor and bridesmaids included Linda and Rosemary May, sisters of the bride, and Susan Gentner.

Garry Niver of Belmont stood with his brother as best man and ushers included Patrick May, brother of the bride, Ken Cheeseman and Ray Ward.

The American Legion Hall in San Bruno was the setting for the reception which followed. Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Charles May, Mrs. Helen Larson, Lawrence May and Steve Larson. Also present were Norman, Mildred and Ethel Prestrud.

The new Mrs. Coleman was graduated from Crestmoor High School and the College of San Mateo. Patrick May is her brother.

Robert, who is an alumnus of South San Francisco High School, is now serving with the U.S. Navy at Virginia Beach, Va., where he and his bride will make their first home. Barbara Clink and Mrs. John Borgna are his sisters.

P-TA's in D.C. to Hear Wyatt on Tax Issue

James Wyatt, dean of students for Skyline College, San Bruno, will be guest speaker at a joint meeting of five Daly City P-TA's at 7:30 p.m., Thursday at Colma K-6 School multi-purpose room.

The one-half hour talk will precede the Colma P-TA's annual Founders' Day program, at which president Arlene Pleich will preside.

School P-TA's being represented at Wyatt's San Mateo Junior College tax election talk will be Vista Grande, Crocker, Woodrow Wilson, John F. Kennedy and Colma.

Drug Workshop

New Directions in Drug Education will be the theme of a "workshop for parents, school and community" to be held Thursday and Friday at Vallombrosa Retreat Center, Menlo Park.

The workshop is being sponsored by the San Mateo County Schools Drug Education Committee in cooperation with the San Mateo County Mental Health Association.

Marcia Wolff and Ronald Laurie Exchange Vows

Acapulco and Mexico City were the honeymoon destinations of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Sheldon Laurie who recently were married at the San Francisco Hilton Hotel.

The bride is the former Marcia Ellen Wolff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry K. Wolff Jr., of Burlingame and Ronald's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Laurie of Millbrae.

Dr. Morris Goldstein conducted the service for the couple who is now living in Mountain View. For the ceremony, the bride wore a floor length gown of ivory ducette satin with a standup collar and short bouffant sleeves of Alencon lace.

Andrea Lee Wolff attended her sister as maid of honor and secondary attendants were Nanci Freund, Nancy Hubbard, Arlene Papel, Beth Pascal, Marilyn Rosow and Nancy Wolff. They all wore floor length light blue crepe gowns with long full bishop sleeves.

Gary Liberman served as best man and ushers included Scott Lerner, J. Harrison Libbey, Jack Sanders Jr., Richard Sanders, Henry Shain and H. Eric Wurst.

Among guests who attended the reception which followed at the hotel were the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Harry K. Wolff Sr., and the bridegroom's grandparents, Mrs. Deborah Eastman and Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Laurie.

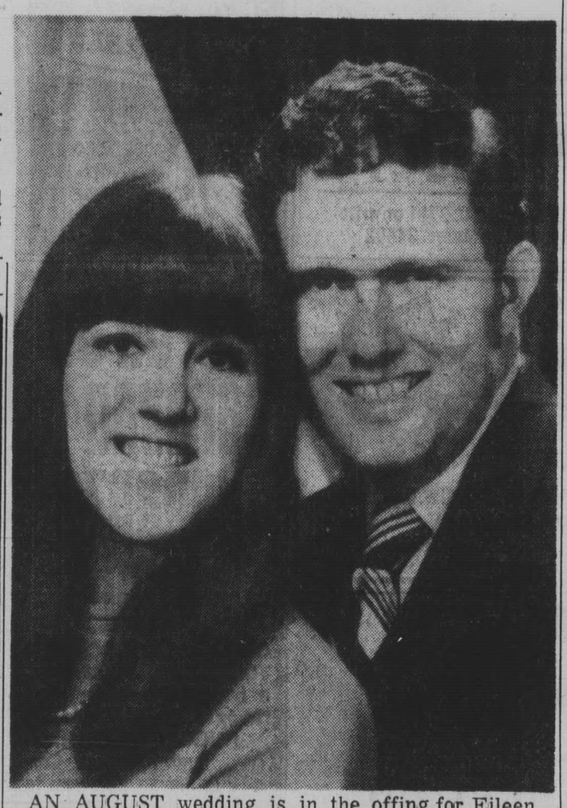
Marcia was graduated from the University of California at Berkeley where her husband also earned his bachelor's degree. She obtained her teaching credentials at San Fernando State College in Van Nuys and is presently teaching school in the Oak Grove School District in San Jose.

At UC, Ronald belonged to Kappa Nu fraternity. He also studied law at the University of San Francisco and is currently working as a patent attorney in San Francisco.

Serramonte Series

The Serramonte High School Association's "open discussion" format will continue with the fourth in the series of academic departments — "The English Department" — at 8 p.m. today in the faculty room.

Ron Miguel, chairman of the organization, will introduce Steve Gillis, department head. He will introduce teachers and their presentation of the English curriculum, reading materials and teaching techniques.



AN AUGUST wedding is in the offing for Eileen Marie Riley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William P. Riley of St. Clair, Mich. and Robert James Linell, son of the Robert I. Linnells of Millbrae. The prospective bride is also the niece of Mr. and Mrs. Ken Deedler of Millbrae. She was graduated from St. Clair High School and attended Skyline College. Robert, who is an alumnus of Mills High School, has served with the U.S. Navy. He also studied at the College of San Mateo and is now attending Control Data Institute of Computer Technology in San Francisco.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS ABOUT THE ARTIFICIAL KIDNEY PROGRAM

Q. What is the Mills' Artificial Kidney Unit?

A. The only place in San Mateo County where you can receive ongoing help if you have kidney failure.

Q. Who is helped?

A. Anyone may be a candidate for the artificial kidney program— medical criteria is the primary determinant of who is acceptable for the program.

Q. What kind of help does a person get?

A. The patient receives treatments which clean the blood. These treatments last six to eight hours and have to be taken three times a week to keep a person alive. Each hospital treatment costs about $200.

Q. Isn't this awfully expensive?

A. Yes, it is. Equipment is expensive and keeping a trained staff of nurses and technicians is also costly. It costs $12,000 to train one patient for two months in the hospital and send him home with the necessary equipment. Thereafter, it costs the patient from $3,000 to $5,000 yearly.
A fund for "patient aid" is supported by gifts from community residents.

Q. Does a person ever get well completely?

A. Some persons take treatments until they can obtain a kidney transplant. Others learn how to give treatments to themselves at home with their wife or husband. Many persons are able to keep working at their jobs.

SP Fire Lights Up Brisbane

Oil-fed flames billowed 150 feet into the sky above Brisbane at dawn Sunday as fire raced through an old structure filled with equipment at the Southern Pacific Railroad yard. Three departments fought it.

Brisbane Fire Chief Clarence Moritz estimated damage at $159,000, including the 75 by 210 foot building which he described as a lumber-shed type shell.

An SP employe in the yard's tower first spotted the blaze at 6 a.m., just as the sun was coming up on a clear, cold day.

The drive-through shed was located just north of the Geneva Avenue extension, which leads into the SP yard, about 50 yards from the fire station.

Moritz said that barrels of oil were among the materials and equipment stored in the wood-frame structure. It was destroyed and everything in it at least damaged. A passenger car parked on a track near the building was damaged, heat blistering exterior paint and cracking windows.

As the drums of oil exploded in the heat, each barrel shot flames 150 feet into the air.

"Oh, it was hot!" Moritz exclaimed.

Loss in destroyed or damaged equipment in the shed was estimated at $73,150; the railroad passenger car, $3500, and the building materials, $82,600.

Assisting Brisbane were firemen from San Francisco and Daly City, with South San Francisco firemen covering at Brisbane's central station.

There were no injuries.

'Pot' Arrests in Bruno

San Bruno police Monday arrested a San Francisco man who reportedly had been stashing approximately 50 kilograms of marijuana in his father's garage in San Bruno.

Police booked Richard A. Gantenbein, 22, listing a San Francisco address, on charges of possession of marijuana, and possession of marijuana for sale.

According to police, they followed up on a tip and located the marijuana in a garage at a home in the Mills Park area. Police said the father had no knowledge of the fact the marijuana was in the garage. The arrest was made in San Francisco.

Meanwhile in South San Francisco Sunday night police arrested 11 persons, one a 17-year-old female, for being in a place where marijuana is being used. Possession of dangerous drug violations also were made on some at a "pot party" at 46 Escanyo Drive.

Detective Doug McCool said he was detailed to the residence after receipt of neighborhood complaints.

Booked were Anna Marie Jabin, 23, listed as owner of the residence, Joseph D. Montoya, 22, and his wife Julie, 23, both listing the Escanyo Drive address.

Also booked were Mrs. Jabin's brother, Joseph Dragotto, 19, of 41 Escanyo Drive, Steven Spahn, 20, of 1317 Crestwood Drive, Robert A. DeBram, 20, of 221 Alta Loma Drive, who had the additional charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor, and Stephen W. McCauley, 20, of 12 Clara Avenue, all of South San Francisco.

Others booked were David G. Betti, 19, of 941 Montgomery Avenue, San Bruno, Joseph S. Spiteri, 19, of 326 Barcelona Dr., and George M. Booth 19, of 1390 El Camino Real, both of Millbrae.

McCool said there was a "very small" drug seizure.

Flood Claims Are Rejected

The first claims from the November floods that inundated much of South San Francisco have been denied by the councilmen.

Four separate claims as a matter of routine were referred to the city attorney and the insurance company. The claims totaled more than $92,000.

The largest claim was that of J. Simpson Company, Inc., of 111 South Maple Avenue, for $86,201.07.

This was followed by a claim of Barber-Greene Company, of 320 Victory Avenue, for $4,875. The two others were $870 from L and B General Contractors, of 106 South Maple Avenue, and $92.50 from Cipriana Queriones, of 202 Arroyo Drive.

Safe Robbed in Pacifica

A safe at the Central Foods Market in Pacifica was robbed of an estimated $10,000 over the holiday weekend.

Pacifica police said suspects, probably two, cut through the Crespi Avenue store's roof, broke through a fibreboard plaster wall and cut a lock on a rear steel door to gain entry.

An acetelyne torch was used to open the safe.

Produce manager Jack Wilson discovered the robbery shortly after 8 a.m. February 16. The store had been closed Monday.

Starts Work

South San Francisco's new city manager, Gale Dreisbach, is scheduled to begin work March 1. His salary has been set at $20,000 annually, according to Mayor Patrick Ahern.

Nurses Hear of Drug Abuse

(Post Photo)

"You must be prepared to meet people who are suffering from drug abuse," Dr. Stanford Rossiter told a group of nurses Wednesday.

The occasion was a three-hour seminar offered by the the Red Cross and the San Mateo County Council for Drug Abuse, at Red Cross headquarters in Burlingame.

Attending were nearly 100 registered and licensed vocational nurses from all over San Mateo County.

"I doubt that we see one tenth of one per cent of those intoxicated on drugs," Dr. Rossiter said. "They are usually baby-sat by their friends.

"We only see them when the victim is too sick for his friends to handle."

Dr. Rossiter, president of the Drug Abuse Council, took part in a panel of speakers including pharmacist Dino De Ranieri, and police officer Edward Trucco.

Officer Trucco advised the nurses on legal aspects of their encounters with drug users, emphasizing that they need not fear sending someone to jail, if they needed to call police for help in handling an acutely ill narcotics user.

"We can't make a case against them simply for being over-dosed," he said. "If you need help, call a policeman."

Dr. Rossiter had also advised the nurses to call on whatever help they needed, as soon as necessary, in handling narcotics users suffering severe reactions.

He said the medical problems of major concern in an emergency situation, were symptoms such as lack of breathing, extremely high fevers, hysteria, and convulsions. Even a coma is not dangerous, he said, as long as the person continues breathing.

Aggressive behavior by an amphetamine user can be dangerous to those around the victim, he cautioned.

Very dangerous, he said, are the reactions to barbiturates which can put a person into final sleep, or can cause dangerous convulsions during withdrawal.

He said he was especially disturbed by the "intentional and unintentional" suicides caused by young people "taking everything in the cabinet."

Dr. Rossiter said he had seen "a dozen suicides of this kind in the past year."

De Ranieri described to the nurses the various kinds of drugs being used, and the symptoms they produce.

He said that some non-prescription drugs, particularly sleeping pills, are sold "across the counter" but look exactly like other drugs which are narcotic or dangerous.

Sometimes these mild drugs are sold and re-sold among youngsters, represented as being stronger drugs, and thus lead to dangerous use later, he said.

SC Sophs to Compete in Program

Four Skyline College sophomores have been selected to represent the college in the semi-finals of the Bank of America's 1971 Community Awards program to be held in San Francisco March 23, President Philip C. Garlington, announced.

The college's award winners are: Michele Burger in the field of business; Dennis Arrsola, social science and humanities; Bruce Barton, science and engineering; Mark Simon, technical-vocational.

At the semi-finals competition two of these students will be selected to advance to the final competition to be held on April 22 in San Francisco.

Already each student has received $150 with another $150 if they win the semi-finals, and a minimum of $250 as a finalist. The first place winner in each study field will win $2000.

Each of the Skyline College winners took the honors on the basis of their respective scholastic records, citizenship, and a group discussion with a panel of judges who are members of the SC scholarship committee.

They are Norman Friend, counselor and social science division instructor; Don Beiderman, Division chairman, math-physical science; Miss Mary Kartsounis, business division instructor; Miss Rose Boche, counselor; Mel Carrillo, director, Open Education Program; Mrs. Bernice Lawry, business division instructor; Jerry Harrison, financial aids officer; and Miss Laurie Andrews, student representative; and Miss Lee Crist, Assistant Dean of Students-Women and scholarship committee chairman.

The Bank of America Community College Awards program seeks to honor outstanding students for their scholastic achievements, civic responsibility, and leadership qualities.

Class Signup at Westmoor

Pre-registration for their fall '71 semester classes is now taking place at Westmoor High School for students who will be returning next year.

Counselors and social science teachers have been working together in the students' social science classes to complete the forms.

The students began the process on February 16 when they received pre-registration forms and a list of potential classes being offered next year.

The pre-registration forms have space for class selections on one side, while on the other side the forms contain an explanation of graduation requirements plus junior college, state college, University of California and private college entrance requirements.

Sermon Selected

"We shall be judged" will be the topic by Pastor David Donnelly at the Westside Baptist Church in Pacifica at the 10:55 a.m. worship hour Sunday.

Pastor Donnelly will speak on "Does It Matter" at the 7 p.m. Family Fellowship Gospel Hour.
